Rush Lower Electric Rate Ordinance

CITY OFFICIALS PLEASED, SEEK EARLY ACTION

Council's Utilities Committee To Study Reduction Offer at Meeting Tonight.

CHAIRMAN APPROVES IT

Porch Favors Acceptance of Proposal Saving Consumers $70,000 Annually.

City officials, highly pleased at the offer yesterday of a five-year contract by the Ohio Public Service company including a reduction in domestic electric rates, today rushed plans for the drafting of an ordinance for quick acceptance.

Mayor William J. Locke and Russell D. Porch, chairman of council's utilities committee, conferred with City Solicitor M. D. Ward, jr., on the drafting of an ordinance embodying the company's offer and inquired into the legal time required to pass the ordinance.

Porch attempted to call a meeting of the utilities committee last night but found that some committee members were unable to attend. A meeting of the committee to study the measure will be held at city hall tonight.

Joy A. Herbert, vice president and division manager of the company, who offered the contract which, if accepted, will mean a saving of $70,000 annually or $350,000 in the five-year period to more than 12,000 consumers in the area, suggested that the contract become effective July 1 The proposal is still subject to approval by the O. P. S. board of directors.

To accept the offer by July 1, council would have to hold the first of the required three readings of the ordinance at its Tuesday meeting. Mayor Locke and Porch learned from Ward that the readings need not necessarily be made at monthly meetings and

Noisy Ducks Lead To Squabble and Hearing In Court

A noisy flock of "wild" ducks at Windsor which resulteld in complaints to Sheriff Frank E. Robinson two days ago had resulted today in a quarrel between two women in the community and the citation of one of them on an assault and battery charge.

Mrs. Russell Remy of Windsor, who told authorities she didn't want Game Warden Charles Kimmel to take the ducks away, pleaded innocent today in Mansfield municipal court to the charge which was filed by her neighbor, Mrs. Ralph Zimmerman.

Mrs. Zimmerman said Mrs. Remy struck her during a dispute over the ducks. The hearing was continued until next Tuesday.

Deputy Sheriff G. C. Humphrey said the argument started when the Zimmermans locked the flock of 10 or 12 ducks in the garage because they allegedly were eating feed put out for chickens and making too much noise. Zimmerman then called the sheriff who sent the game warden to investigate.

Mrs Remy contended her brother, Richard Leathers, raised the ducks and she was going to protect his claim to them. The ducks frequent a stream back of the Zimmerman home and have virtually become domesticated, officers said.

Start First Dial Phones Here April 5

Company Says Woodland Exchange Ready to Be Switched Over.

The long-awaited conversion from semi-automatic to full dial operation of telephones in Mansfield will get under way, Saturday, April 5, at exactly 10 p. m., Mansfield Telephone company officials announced today.

The first exchange to undergo the change will be Woodland with more than 1,300 phones. The conversion will be made step by step, so that a portion of the people in the city will be using dial operation, while others will continue to use semi-automatic.

G. A. Hirsch, consulting engineer for the company, said that the time required to change over service throughout the city would depend upon the success met in the first conversion

"The conversion of the main exchange, including the Woodland exchange, to full dial operation is a major engineering problem," said Hirsch, "and the engineering in detail therewith took a year before the actual beginning of the manufacture of equipment was undertaken."

One of the reasons for the change, according to Hirsch, is the increase in the volume of traffic and the length of time subscribers hold lines. This combination, Hirsch stated, results in lines being busy within the exchange itself in addition to slowing up the service.

"With the conversion to full dial operation," said Hirsch, "these busy lines will be very materially decreased, and instead of a capacity for 51 calls at any one time, there will be a capacity for 75 calls, an increase of 50 per cent. This should lead to vastly improved service."

Along with the change in the placing calls in the Woodland exchange, a new method of operation will also be instituted. Instead of calls coming through

PROBE SLAYING

Police Hunt Couple In Fatal Stabbing of Steel Worker.

PORTSMOUTH —(U.P.)— A 30-year-old steel worker, Roy Jones, of Highland Bend, was found stabbed to death today in a downtown apartment.

The body was found in an apartment occupied by Edgar Massie, 30, a WPA worker, and his wife, and police began an immediate search for the couple.

A friend of Jones informed police that the latter left him early today to go to the Massie apartment and that the steelworker had given him $150 for safekeeping. Police said there were indications that a violent struggle had taken place in the room in which Jones' body was found.

GIVEN CONTRACT

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The war department has awarded a contract to the axle division, Eaton Manufacturing company, Cleveland, for $388,966, to expand facilities for aircraft engine parts.

As CIO Leaders Defy Government's Work Edict

Complying with the resume work order of Navy Secretary Frank Knox and O. P. M. Director William Knudsen, the strike-stalled Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company at Milwaukee readied its facilities for resumption of work on its vital defense contracts but CIO leaders warned the 7,500 workers of loss of union membership if they returned before the union gave its sanction. In the photo at the top a strike leader is seen warning a group of men against returning to their posts. The photo at the bottom shows a Bethlehem Steel company striker with head injuries which resulted from disorders prior to settlement of the strike announced this morning.

STILL SILENT ON CRITICISM

City Officials Refuse To Comment on Sewage Plant Charges.

City officials today continued to withhold comment on the sharp criticism of the administration of Mansfield's sewage disposal plant made yesterday by George B. Sowers, Cleveland designer of the plant.

Sowers charged that the plant was inefficiently operated in the interests of what he termed false economy and that it was being overloaded. He also condemned the city's practice of by-passing partially treated sewage into Rocky Fork creek and asked for resumption of full-time operation.

Mayor William J. Locke and Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton had no statements to make on the engineer's recommendations and said they were planning a conference with

Sees Dictators Throttle U. S. On All Sides If Axis Wins

By VIRGIL A. STANFIELD

A United States throttled economically and threatened on all sides by dictators if the Axis powers win the war was pictured last night by Prof. Henry M. Busch, head of the social science department at Cleveland college, Western Reserve university, in a talk in Senior high school auditorium.

The lecture was one of a series sponsored jointly by the Mansfield Rotary and University clubs. The Mansfield League of Women Voters also was a sponsor of last night's lecture. Approximately 500 persons heard the talk.

This is our war in a real sense, and we will discover that if the Nazis win," Prof. Busch warned. "Regardless of how much we want to be isolationists, we must realize that the threat we face is greater than any we have ever known."

Prof. Busch predicted the rapid rise of Gen. Franco of Spain as Hitler's henchman if Hitler and

Mansfield to Have Part In Air Raid Alarm Maneuvers In Summer Months

Telephone Network to Be Used In Carrying Out Practice.

The Mansfield Telephone company announced today that it had been requested by the war department to co-operate in the establishment of an air raid alarm system in Richland county to check aircraft maneuvers in this area as part of the national defense program.

"The company is a part of the nation's communications system," said G. A. Hirsch, consulting engineer, "and will naturally co-operate to the fullest extent."

Rural residents in the county will act as observers during maneuvers and will report all information concerning aircraft passing over their section to a central point, probably Mansfield.

The rural observers will relay information, including the number, markings, speed and direction of planes. The same program would be carried out in other counties of the state simultaneously.

The value of observers in sparsely settled areas was proven last summer in the Adirondack region of New York when lookout posts checked planes taking part in the war games around Plattsburg and the northern part of the state. American Legion posts and other veteran groups formed volunteer observer posts. The information was rushed by telephone to army headquarters in the field.

The war department is planning to conduct aerial maneuvers over Ohio during the summer months as a preventive measure. In line with this, it has requested all telephone companies in the state to contact subscribers to aid in the program

The whole plan will be built on "mythical" air attacks. Using the reports of the observers, army officials will attempt to spot the plane, thereby putting it automatically out of the fight.

SETTLE STRIKE AT BETHLEHEM STEEL PLANT

Agreement Announced Today as Workers at Cambria Start Sectional Walkout.

ALLIS FACTORY OPENS

Congress Reported Studying 'Big Stick Law' To Meet Tie-Ups.

BULLETIN

BETHLEHEM, Pa. —(AP)— A four-day strike at the huge parent plant of Bethlehem Steel ended today and the union, giving unanimous assent to terms on which negotiators previously had agreed, announced workers would return to their jobs "as fast as they can."

Settlement of the four-day strike at the Bethlehem steel mill, Bethlehem, Pa., was announced this morning almost simultaneously with the beginning of a walkout at the Bethlehem company's Cambria plant employing 15,000 workers.

Reaction in Washington was a reliable report that key congressional leaders were considering "big stick" legislation, giving the government sweeping new powers to deal with defense production stoppages and to enforce decisions which might be made by the new national defense mediation board.

Following a midnight-to-dawn conference between the management and striking CIO Steel Workers Organizing Committee at Bethlehem, John V. Riffe, assistant SWOC director, said he was "sure" that union members would vote to accept the agreement ending the Bethlehem strike.

It provided, he said, that all strikers were to be returned to their jobs without loss of seniority; that the company would continue to meet and deal with employes' representatives in collective bargaining; that all dealings

TAFT'S WORRIED

Senator Says Administration Borrowing Means Inflation.

CINCINNATI —(U.P.)— Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.-O.), warned last night that the administration's plans for financing national defense expenditures by borrowing may create "a tremendous inflationary program" and said that a sound program called for imposition of $5,000,000,000 in new taxes.

Taft said that during the next fiscal year at least $25,000,000,000 would be spent and charged that the administration had no plan other than borrowing to meet the drain on revenue.

In an address before the Cuvier Press Club he said that financing of the program by the sale of government bonds would "create out of thin air a tremendous purchasing power" that would produce an "artificial boom."

Westinghouse and Union to Confer; Strike Rumors Hit

Joseph Hawkins, president of Local 711 of the Mansfield Westinghouse union, said today he will meet in Pittsburgh next week with representatives of unions at the 21 other Westinghouse plants and Westinghouse officials in a move to effect a national agreement for a general wage increase of 10 cents per hour for employes in all Westinghouse plants.

Announcement of the meeting came from Julius Emspak, general secretary-treasurer of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America. He said the meeting next week was called by mutual agreement with the company.

He said the Westinghouse unions, affiliated with the CIO, have been seeking an agreement with Westinghouse for a pay increase for approximately 40,000 in all 22 Westinghouse plants.

Representatives of the Mansfield Westinghouse plant said the matter would be handled by the Pittsburgh office and they had no comment to make on the meeting planned for next week.

Emspak said he hoped announcement of the meeting and agreement would put rumors of a prospective strike "in the proper light before the public."

The national agreement is "what the union has been working for four years," he added.

The Westinghouse union here claims a membership of more than 2,700, or approximately 85 per cent of the workers in the Westinghouse plant. It is the exclusive collective bargaining agency for Westinghouse employes in Mansfield.

Gets Promise Of U. S. Aid; Troops Move

Army Rushed to Battle Stations as Turkey Talks Mutual Assistance And British Are Reported Massing at Border.

(By Associated Press)

A defiant Yugoslavia, led by 17-year-old King Peter II, refused today to ratify the three-day-old Axis pact and received the United States' promise of full aid if she is forced to resist German and Italian armies.

United States Minister Arthur Bliss Lane delivered a note to the government which said that under the terms of the military aid bill every possible assistance would be given to Yugoslavia "as to all other nations seeking to maintain their independence and integrity to repel aggression."

Meanwhile 1,200,000 Yugoslav troops were being rushed to battle stations.

Events moved swiftly. Turkey reportedly proposed a mutual assistance pact with Yugoslavia as the Turkish minister conferred with Yugoslavia's new premier, Dusan Simovic.

In Budapest, the chief of the Hungarian general staff and army heads conferred with the Nazi-dominated Hungarian government on "current problems." Informed quarters said it was "not a war council," however.

German sources in Belgrade said most of the 3,000 Nazi economic experts, newspapermen and trade delegates in Yugoslavia were racing for the frontier or packing for a quick exit.

Yugoslavia's militant defiance of the Axis fanned tumultuous enthusiasm even in German-conquered France. In Marseille, some 10,000 inhabitants streamed through the Place De La Bourse shouting: "Long live Yugoslavia!"

The spontaneous demonstration grew in volume hourly.

High Balkan diplomatic quarters said the cabinet decided in an all-night session to return Yugoslavia to "full and absolute neutrality" because co-operation with the Axis powers was "contrary to the will of the Yugoslav people."

As forecast by Prime Minister Winston Churchill in London yesterday, this was reported to be Yugoslavia's blunt answer to an "urgent request"—a virtual ultimatum—by Nazi Germany demanding an explanation of the coup d'etat which overthrew Regent Prince Paul's pro-Axis government.

NAZIS WAITING DEFINITE REPLY

Seek Clear-Cut Answer From Yugoslavia on Attitude Toward Axis Pact.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Germany waited impatiently today for a definite answer from King Peter's new military government in Yugoslavia as to whether it is repudiating its membership in the three-power pact.

Berlin apparently was pressing urgently for a clean-cut decision on foreign policy, but German diplomatic reports from Belgrade did not bring a clear picture, it was said.

It was understood the new Yugoslav premier, Gen. Dusan Simovic, sought to let the Axis pact hang in the air—unratified by parliament but at the same time not specifically repudiated.

There was no authorized comment on what would happen if Yugoslavia decided to let the pact thus dangle uncertainly.

Viktor Von Heeren, German minister in Belgrade, was said to have had at least one conversation with Simovic since the latter took over the Yugoslav pre-

SAWYER RETURN RENEWS TILT

Revival of Patronage Squabble Expected in Washington.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The approaching return of National Committeeman Charles Sawyer from South America has revived a patronage squabble among Ohio Democrats in the house.

Sawyer, who left the country several weeks ago without accepting an invitation to consult with party members here, will be asked to a conference upon his return.

Sawyer said before he started his vacation that he was not interested in patronage but the house group thinks he ought to help formulate a program for handling it.

SPAN PROMISED

State Says New Bridge Will Be Built on North Main.

Construction of a new bridge over Touby's run on North Main street in Mansfield will be included in the state highway program this summer, Vance Grimes, Ashland division state highway engineer, said today.

The structure, estimated to cost $22,000, will be financed on a 50-50 basis by the state and county.

The county had planned to build the bridge with WPA labor, but the state offered to bear half of the cost if the county commissioners agreed to participate in the Erie grade elimination project in route 30-N just west of Mansfield.

Grimes said plans for the bridge, a one-span, cement structure, have been submitted to the state highway headquarters in Columbus for approval. It is expected that bids will be requested this spring and work started early in the summer, he said.

TRIBAL CULTURE TO BE EXPLORED

Government to Spend $31,000 on Diggings In Texas To Uncover Secrets.

(By Associated Press)

CANYON, Tex.—Secrets of people who established a distinctive culture in the Texas Panhandle 600 years ago, then mysteriously abandoned the region will continue to be unlocked.

An archaeological project launched three years ago by the Works Progress administration under sponsorship of the West Texas State Teachers college has been continued through a federal grant. The government and the sponsor will spend $31,000 in the next 12 months on diggings which are hoped to throw new light on the obscure tribe which once inhabited the area.

About 25 men, many archaeological experts, will excavate a site some 25 miles northwest of Amarillo, north of the Canadian river. The new site, expected to add much to the store of relics already found, has been exciting workmen because it is the first across the Canadian river. About 30 rooms have been traced dimly on the surface. Pictographs were found on nearby cliffs.

The project this year will include a museum unit of half a dozen men who will prepare specimens for study and display and will index the thousands of finds already made.

Excavations made have contained large quantities of pottery which dated the ruins as being between 1250 and 1350 A. D. Evidence of trade with New Mexico and peoples of the Gulf coast has been found, but the architecture of Panhandle ruins differs sharply from that of the contemporary Pueblos. Evidently a more northern Indian tribe of migratory habits took up permanent abode when the Canadian river area was reached. The culture, so far as is known, is confined to the Panhandle-Plains portion of the Canadian river valley. But what caused the tribe to leave remains a mystery.

Tribe Remembers Vitt But Develops New Team Spirit

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Clad in gray sweat-togs, an old, familiar figure has been booting the pigskin high over the soggy turf of Mansfield high school's gridiron this past week.

"I've been doing this every spring for three years," explained ex-Tyger Johnny Hallabrin, "so it isn't news."

No, it wasn't news. Very little attention was paid the boy who may be Ohio State's regular fullback next fall. The other end of the field was alive with activity as high school and junior high tracksters worked out. Three boys helped him boot the oval around, and Coach Paul Snyder and the old Podger stopped by for a fanning bee. That was his gallery.

"And how," I asked him, "do you like Paul Brown by now? Has he been working you hard?"

"I'll say he's been working us hard," was the response. "But you don't notice it at the time, he makes it that interesting. When we're through for the day we're tired, and then realize that we've really been through a drill."

Hallabrin ran into the gym, stepped on the scales and beamed: "Only 192 Just two more pounds to take off."

"Last fall," confided "Pop" Elias, "he was way over 200. He was fat!" Which may give you some idea of the new spirit at Ohio State.

Joe Romano, according to figures just compiled by Coach Vern Hoffman, won the Mansfield Tyger foul shooting trophy for the past season by 1.5 percentage points over Dick Burkholder.

Joe flipped 15 free points in 24 chances during the season, and Burkholder 35 in 57. In the final game Dick made five out of six shots against Fremont at the Sandusky tournament while Romano went through the tournament without a free shot.

If Burkholder had made five out of five, or six for six in that Fremont game, he'd have won the trophy, but if he had made all six shots the game would not have been tied up, and there would not have been two overtime periods.

Fremont would have won in regulation time by one point.

Sounds funny, doesn't it? But the one shot Burkholder missed was followed up with a bat-in shot by Bob Winbigler, and Mansfield got two instead of one point on the play.

I've been called the old Podger, and the Hodge-Podger and one thing and another, but at my house they're calling me the old Codger, and I OBJECT.

More than 200 of the nation's outstanding badminton players, including the champions pictured above, will compete in the fifth annual amateur badminton championships of the U. S. in Cleveland, April 3-5. Shown, left to right, are Elizabeth Anslem of Oakland, Cal.; Helen Zabriskie of Oakland, Cal., both women's doubles champions; Chester Goss of Pasadena, Cal., men's doubles champ; Evelyn Boldrick of San Diego, Cal., women's singles champ; Dave Freeman of Pasadena, Cal., men's singles and doubles champ, and Sally Anne Williams of Spokane, Wash., mixed doubles champ.

Madison Has Cage Benefit

Two Games on Card To Aid Athletic Fund.

Out at Madison high school tonight a benefit program will be staged for the benefit of the school athletic fund.

In a program headlined by two of the members of this year's City A basketball league, plenty of action is promised the "dyed in the wool" basketball fans who are following the basketball season to its inevitable death.

In the preliminary game billed at 7:30, Yuncker Sports of the City A league will clash with the McCready Furniture team of Lucas, a member of the Y. M. C. A. league. This should prove to be an interesting tilt, as both teams finished in third place in their respective leagues.

In the main tilt at 8:30, the Blue Goose Sohioans, second placers in the City A basketball league, will tangle with the Butler E.-Hy's, a team composed of players who formerly performed with Butler high school teams of days gone by.

This will be rather a homecoming for the Blue Goose team since most of the players performed for Madison high school on the hardwood for several years. Most well known among the former Madison players are the Lockhart boys, Kenny and Willard. They are well known to Mansfield fans, due to their activity in almost every sport played in Mansfield. Among the other Madison graduates are Bob Wilkins, Jake Kopcial and Joe Miller.

They will be renewing a duel carried on from high school days when they tangle with the Butler team. Most of the players on the two teams have played against each other while still in school and a great rivalry always exists between Madison and Butler high schools and graduates.

BRANNON SIGNS AS PILOT OF PANDAS

LIMA—(INS)—Otis Brannan, of Hot Springs, Ark., today prepared to take over as playing manager of the Lima Pandas, 1940 champions of the Ohio State baseball league. Brannan, 37 years old, succeeds Merle Settlemire and will play second base. Settlemire is now with Newport, Ark. Brannan managed the Lake Charles, La., team of the Evangeline league last year.

Peck Set on Tribe Lineup

Heath Favored Over Bell For Opening Game.

FT MYERS, Fla.—(AP)—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh was virtually set on his starting lineup for the April 15 opener as the Cleveland Indians broke camp today and headed north.

The Indians will play 16 games on the trip home, starting with a Saturday-Sunday series at Atlanta against the Southern association team. Except for two contests in Knoxville April 5 and 6, the Redskins battle the New York Giants in all the other games.

Peckinpaugh indicated he would concentrate on getting his five starting pitchers—Feller, Jim Bagby, Al Milnar, Mel Harder and Al Smith—in condition to go nine innings. They will be worked regularly on the way north, with the other 11 fingers being sandwiched in when possible.

The club broke camp with all players in top shape except Boudreau and Keltner. The shortstop is still bothered with an ankle sprain and Keltner has a wrenched back, but both injuries are minor.

Bagby has been nominated to pitch tomorrow, Atlanta being his home town. Feller is scheduled to twirl Sunday.

Hank Attacks Sport Scribes

Greenberg Declares War on Writers, Cameramen.

LAKELAND, Fla.—(INS)—Although his large flat feet probably will keep him out of the army, Hank Greenberg, of the Detroit Tigers, has declared war. The six foot, four inch slugger has squared off against the press, and is taking on all comers with sneers, growls and snarls, and rapidly the situation is developing to a point of interest comparable to that occasion when Dizzy Dean chose up sides and tried to whip a lobby full of reporters three years ago.

Voted the most valuable player in the American league last season, Greenberg has become annoyed over criticism of his position in the draft and seems determined to fall out with somebody every day, preferably a man armed with a typewriter or a camera.

The reporters have responded in kind and the battle is on in a quiet undercover sort of way down here in the Tiger camp among the waving palms.

Greenberg's first explosion occurred in New York when he arrived from a Hawaiian vacation and was besieged at the airport for a statement on a story saying he had asked deferment by the Detroit draft board with which he had registered.

He greeted his interviewers with short, caustic replies and succeeded in creating the impression that he didn't want to talk or be bothered. He has carried the feud on into camp here and the exchange of icy stares and sizzling comment has kept the temperature at the local ball park running up and down like a lunch hour elevator. From Greenberg's standpoint, the worst part of it all is that he has some of his home town reporter fellows from Detroit sharpening up their expletives.

BOOKED FOR TITLE

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The 10-round bout next Wednesday between Jimmy Bivens of Cleveland and Buddy Knox of Dayton today was billed for the Ohio heavyweight championship by Promoter Bob Brickman, who said he would present a trophy to the winner.

Selects Ten for Pittsburgh Trip

Track Coach Harry Mehock today selected 10 Mansfield high Tygers for competition tomorrow in the Tri-State indoor meet at Pittsburgh.

Because some of the boys are needed in the gym exhibition at the school tonight, they will leave tomorrow morning at 5 o'clock on the Pittsburgh jaunt.

The small squad includes: Shiplet Jones, Palmer, Butterfield, Yarmon, Hipp, Whitsky, Atwater, Herrick and Woodbury.

Shelby Blanked In Star Team

Second-Placers Fail To Get Selection.

SHELBY — Although taking second place in North Central Ohio league cage race, Shelby high school failed to place a single player on the honorary first team of the all-league squad named today by sport writers of newspapers in the league cities.

Ashland placed two players on the first team, while Marion, Mount Vernon and Bucyrus each took one post.

First team included Walter Michael, jr., of Bucyrus, and Peter Risser of Ashland, forwards; Charles Smith of Marion, center; Pete Ransom of Mount Vernon and Bob Howell of Ashland, guards.

On the second team were Bill Daugherty of Shelby and Carson Kanode of Bucyrus, guards; Howard Devalt of Galion, center and Gene Shellhorn and Charles Roberts, both of Marion, guards.

Honorary mention was made of Glenn Fought of Shelby, Harold Lore of Mount Vernon, Stan Kemery of Bucyrus, Phillip Stentz of Ashland, and Ted Carmel of Galion, forwards; Norman Spurlock, of Bucyrus, and Paul Hart of Shelby, centers, and Gerald Strauss of Marion, guard.

Fight Results

(By Associated Press)

BARRE, Vt.—Abe Cohen, middleweight, Hampton, N. H., outpointed Leo Kellam, 144, Montpelier, Vt. (10).

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Lloyd Price, 137, Akron, outpointed Harry Blake, 138½, Buffalo (10).

Pirates Loom as Threats

Frisch Attempts To Bolster Infield.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—(INS)—The team that was first in National league socking and last in fielding in 1940—the Pittsburgh Pirates—is brewing trouble today for pre-season favorites.

Frankie Frisch, the man whose strict discipline boosted a bunch of play boys from sixth to fourth place last year in his first season as boss, is attempting to renovate Pitt's unsound inner defense and, at the same time, cure some sore arm pitchers.

If this patchwork is successful, the bold bad Pirates will lurk close to the league leaders from the outset of the pennant race.

Right now Frisch holds high hopes for his ailing mound hopeful—Russ Bauers. If Russ makes the grade as a starter, the old "Fordham Flash" will flash a new smile. Bauers' arm trouble started in 1939 when he won but two and lost four.

The pitching burden probably will rest on Rip Sewell, who won 16 and lost 5 last year. Joe Bowman looks like his No. 1 helper.

Other pitchers on the front line likely will be Mace Brown, Max Butcher, Dick Lanahan, John Lanning, Bob Klinger and Ken Heintzelman, all leftovers from last season's staff.

While that staff admittedly isn't too stout, Frisch is gambling on finding unexpected support from the arms of Bill Clemensen, up from Syracuse, Dick Conger, from Beaumont, Arthur Dietz, another Syracuse rookie; Elmer Rambert, with the Pirates part of last season; Oadis Swigart, who came up late last year from Syracuse; and Eldon Wilkie, sensational Seattle left-hander who led the Coast league with a mark of 13-5.

Frisch seems set on his infield which is much the same as last season although apparently more steady. Elbie Fletcher will be at first, young Frank Gustine at second, dependable Arky Vaughan at short and Lee Handley at third.

The Pirate outfield is more than passable with Vince DiMaggio, Robert Elliott, Debs Garms, Maurice Van Robays and Lloyd Waner from last year's squad battling such promising rookies as Ed Stewart, Kalin and Yount.

What's Holding Him Up?

LOU STRINGER

Among the rookie hopefuls expected to stick in the majors this year is Gene Stringer, of the Chicago Cubs, snapped reaching for a wide one in training camp at Santa Catalina island, California. Stringer was with the Los Angeles team last year.

Says Baseball Will Be Hit Hard By Draft This Season

By HENRY McLEMORE.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—(U.P.)—The chances are that Uncle Sam is going to have baseball yelling "uncle" by the time August or September rolls 'round.

Not only yelling "uncle," but "Uncle lay off us—please."

You know why, of course—the draft.

The potential baseball soldiers you have heard about so far comprise only a handful of those who really are in danger of having to lay down the flannel and the bat for the khaki and the gun. Only the prominent draft numbers have been given headline space—Greenberg, Rizzuto and top notchers like that. But scattered through the major and minor league rosters are scores, if not hundreds, of players under the scrutiny of draft board officials.

"Baseball is going to be hit, and hit hard," a prominent major league official told me when I was traveling through the Grapefruit circuit a week or so ago.

"Right now it would appear that only a scattered few of the players are in danger of being shipped off to camp but that doesn't mean anything. The players with low draft numbers are keeping it secret. And naturally, when they got their contracts they didn't write back and say they didn't think they'd better sign them, being as they were likely to be called into service within a few months. They signed up and kept mum. They were gunning for a few months' pay. Better to come south and get in May, June and July pay checks than none at all."

This official, and he is in a position to know how the owners and managers feel about it, is certain that baseball will be stripped of scores of players and that before the year is out games between various army camps, with major and minor league stars in the lineups will be attracting much attention.

Hockey

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Boston 2, Toronto 1.
Detroit 3, Chicago 1.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Hershey 2, Pittsburgh 1 (overtime).

Pirate catching is top-notch. Al Lopez has fully recovered from has injuries of last year and is counting on catching over 100 games.

"Give this crew some dependable pitching, tighten up their inner defense and let them continue their socking and we'll be up there or thereabouts," says Frisch.

Indians Lacking Power

Have Championship Hill And Defense Works.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(U.P.)—Oscar Vitt is gone but his memory lingers on in the camp of the Cleveland Indians. On the bulletin board in the Tribe's clubhouse, there's a newspaper picture of Vitt captioned, "back to the bushes."

Taciturn Roger Peckinpaugh, new leader of the Indians, is reluctant to talk about the players' rebellion of last June against Vitt.

"That's all cleaned up now," Peck said. "We have a fine bunch of fellows and great spirit. Any reference to last year's unpleasantness is out of turn."

As far as the naked eye can discern, the Indians are all one big, happy family hustling to gain a fighting edge and cop the pennant they should have won a year ago. But there still are echoes of last summer's revolt against Vitt. Hal Trosky, who perhaps has suffered more in the public eye than any other player, talks willingly and freely about his part in the affair. He is hopeful of a new deal from the fans.

The Indians have championship pitching and defense but lack hitting strength. In their first 11 games against major league clubs this spring, the Indians averaged only two runs per game.

Exhibition games aren't conclusive proof about hitting power but the Indians' 1940 record confirms their lack of attack. They had only one 300 hitter, were fifth in batting, sixth in runs batted in, fifth in total bases, sixth in runs scored, sixth in homers and fifth in triples, and left the league's second largest number of men on bases.

Peck's main problem is to put some fire in the Cleveland attack. Gerald Walker, who drove in 96 runs for Washington last year, is expected to bolster the Tribe's attack somewhat and a comeback by Jeff Heath would help tremendously.

The Indians are overloaded with pitchers. Bob Feller, although a trifle wild, is heading for another big season, and may hit the 30-victory mark. Behind him are Mel Harder, looking unusually good, Al Milnar, Al Smith and Jim Bagby, former Red Sox right-hander.

Dreams Dodgers Champs

Writers Sees Redlegs Missing 1-Run Wins.

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA, Fla. —(AP)— The Really smart move at this point would be to take a run-out powder on the National league, pleading illness from overwork and pointing out that the bill of rights as good as says that no man can be forced to make a fool of himself.

Either that, or take the easy way and pick the Cincinnati Reds to win their third straight pennant behind one of the finest pitching staffs ever assembled. A fellow at least would be assured of some excellent company in the event the world champions did a Brodie.

But this observer either is made of sterner stuff or has become slightly addled by the sun, and, besides, he distinctly thought he saw a vision last night.

Yankee stadium (in this far-fetched futurama) was packed to its rafters for an entire world series, shattering every known baseball attendance record and demoralizing the subway service of the nation's greatest city.

What a vision! What a double vision, in fact; it could mean only one think, folks. Those Brooklyn Dodgers, those Flatbush fusilliers, had won their first flag in 21 years. They had agreed to play all the series games in the Yankee stadium (oh, yes, the Yanks won out in the American league yesterday) because of the limited capacity of Ebbets field.

The dream, unfortunately, didn't disclose how the Dodgers got there. It made no attempt to explain what happened to Cincinnati's great pitching staff or how the dangerous St. Louis Cardinals were beaten off. But those are details that Manager Leo Durocher will have to attend to, himself.

One possible clue to what happened to the Cincinnati pitchers lies in the very fact that the Reds won a record total of 43 games by a single run last season. That means that Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer and the others were under a terrific strain in nearly every game they pitched.

Such a strain, if continued indefinitely, is bound to take its toll. And there is no reason to believe that the champions will have any more punch this season than they did last, even with the addition of hard-hitting Jim Gleeson to their lineup. Catcher Ernie Lombardi, whose bat has won many a game in the last two years, still is forced to swing gingerly because of his weak ankle. Eddie Joost, the club's new first-string shortstop, does not hit the long ball that Billy Myers did the last two years.

Derringer still is at his home recovering too slowly from being struck in the groin 10 days ago. There is no certainty he will be ready to start the season.

Brooklyn, on the other hand, is ready to go, stronger at several spots than it was a year ago and brimming with confidence. Joe Medwick is hitting as of yore and young Pete Resider looks like a sensation in centerfield. Peewee Reese is one of the game's greatest shortstops already.

The Dodgers, like 14 other big league clubs, do not have the pitching possessed by Cincinnati. But any outfit that has a pair like Kirby Higbe and Whit Wyatt to carry the load will get along.

Racer Found

WILBUR SHAW

Automobile Racer Wilbur Shaw, winner of the 1940 Indianapolis classic, reported missing on an airplane flight over Texas, later was found to have made a safe landing near Sonora, Mexico. Shaw was piloting a private plane. One passenger was aboard with him.

Reds Troubled By Weak Stick

Open Three-Game Series With Boston Red Sox.

HAVANA —(U.P.)— Troubled by weak hitting, the Cincinnati Reds opened a three-game exhibition series with the Boston Red Sox here today after losing another game to the New York Giants.

Despite the fact that their failure to hit in the pinches cost them the game, the Reds had, the satisfaction of seeing Harry Craft pull out of his pre-season batting slump.

Manager Bill McKechnie admitted that he was on the verge of taking Craft out of the center field spot but kept him in the game yesterday because "if I take Harry out of there he might get the idea I have given up on him and if so it would take him a long time to regain his confidence."

Craft emerged from his hitting doldrums with two singles and a double off Carl Hubbell in his first three times at bat.

His first hit was a lucky one but it was his first safety in 11 swings and just what he needed to restore his confidence.

McKechnie predicted that the injured Ernie Lombardi would be recovered sufficiently to catch for the world champions in the opening game of the season.

Big Lom is rapidly working out the limp in his sprained angle, suffered late last season.

After the series with the Red Sox and a game with the Phillies at Miami on Monday the Reds will start northward.

TAKE FIRST PLACE

ST. PAUL—(INS)—The Hermann Undertakers of St. Louis, national match game champions, rolled into first place in the five-man division at the American Bowling Congress early today with a pin-count of 3,019 on games of 901, 1,131 and 987. It was the first 3,000 score of the congress.

BOWLING SCORES

Donna Schuster rolled high game of 202 and high total of 571 in the women's bowling league last night, pacing her Orange Street Cafe team to top honors of 767 and 2,162.

Florence Handwark had 550, Hazel Hilborn 527 and Sophia Meder 508.

Two teams will go to Marion over the week-end for the women's Inter-City tournament. They include:

Royal Crown Colas—Mary McMullen, Thelma Linster, Eva Hager, Margaret Baker and Sophia Meder, bowling at 9:30 p. m. Saturday and 12 noon Sunday.

Orange Street Cafe—Katherine Cheney, Evelyn Jocha, De Lee Schroff, Margaret Yingling and Donna Schuster, rolling at 7:15 Saturday and 8 p. m. Sunday.

Ed Henrich carried away all honors in the B league last night with 267 for high game and 648 for high total. He rolled 179-267-202.

Ringside Cafe rolled 859-950-946—2,755 for team honors.

Bissman Birdie Brand bowlers have been booked for a special match with Everett Scott's Ft. Wayne Strohs Bohemian Beers at Van Wert Sunday night at 7:30 for a sizable purse.

GOLFERS HOPE FOR TOURNEY WEATHER

ASHEVILLE, N. C. — (INS) — Weather permitting, the $5,000 Land of the Sky golf tournament was to make a belated start today with many of the nation's top flight golfers in the field. Scheduled opening of the tourney yesterday was postponed due to heavy rain.

The new program calls for 18 holes today, another 18 tomorrow, and the 36-hole finals Sunday. The defending champion is Ben Hogan.

Financial Report of Richland County

For the Year Ending December 31, 1940.

CERTIFICATE OF THE COUNTY AUDITOR

Auditor's Office Richland County,
Mansfield, Ohio, March 12, 1941.

I, Norman L. Wolfe, Auditor of Richland County, Ohio, do hereby certify that the following report is correct

NORMAN L. WOLFE,
Richland County Auditor.

Court of Common Pleas, Richland County,
Mansfield, Ohio, March 20, 1941.

I certify that the following report is in compliance with the law.

C. H. HUSTON,
Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

EXPLANATION OF FINANCIAL REPORT

GENERAL STATISTICS OF RICHLAND COUNTY, OHIO

Population, 1940—73,740
Tax value, 1939 duplicate—$94,000,000.00.
Tax levy for County purposes—2.5 mills.

The following remarks and data are submitted for the better understanding of the annual financial report for the year ending December 31, 1940.

COUNTY GENERAL FUND

In addition to the expense of operating the Court House and Jail many welfare activities are financed from the County General Fund. These include the Children's Home, County Infirmary, Soldiers Relief and Burial, care of indigent tubercular cases and indigent crippled children, as well as the maintenance of several hundred persons in various State Institutions for the feeble minded and insane.

Blind relief and aid to dependent children are financed partly from the County General Fund and partly from grants from the State and Federal Governments as shown on this report.

Agricultural extension work, and County and State elections are also financed from the General Fund.

During the year 1940, Richland County operated on the extremely low rate of 2.5 mills per dollar of tax value.

COUNTY DEBT

During the year 1940, Richland County paid off the last of its bonds and is now completely out of debt for the first time in more than thirty years. For the past five years the county has followed the policy of issuing no bonds without a vote of the people. Ten years ago the county debt was well over a million dollars.

If the present policy is continued the county should be able to operate within its revenue for the next few years despite 15% increase in population and a corresponding increase in the demand for the service of various branches of county government.

COUNTY ROAD FUNDS

All income for road purposes is now derived from the auto license tax and gas tax and the detail of the expenditures from this fund is easily followed in the report.

New construction of roads and bridges, maintenance and repair of all County highways, weed mowing, snow removal and supervision of the County highway system are paid for out of this fund.

TAX FUNDS

The County acts as a tax assessing, collecting, and distributing agency for the other units of local government; namely, the schools, cities, villages, and townships. Richland County acts in this capacity for fourteen school districts, two cities, seven villages, and eighteen townships. These funds make up the item shown as "Undistributed Tax Funds."

In 1940 the County handled $2,989,053.65 for the various units of local government.

The other items contained in this report are, I believe, self explanatory.

NORMAN L. WOLFE,
Richland County Auditor.

NEW NOVEL AT LIBRARY TELLS OF DEEP SOUTH

'By the Dim Lamps' Pictures Louisiana and New Orleans During Civil War.

In his novel, "By the Dim Lamps,' Nathan Schachner has written an appealing novel of the South. This book, new on the shelves at Mansfield Public library, deals particularly with Louisiana and New Orleans during the Civil war and the reconstruction period which followed.

The central figure, Hugh Flint, is a far-sighted patriotic Southerner, who, in the interest of his country, follows an unpopular course that causes much conflict and many emotional clashes.

Recent Fiction: Cyril Harris in his new novel, RICHARD PRYNE, presents an unfamiliar aspect of the American Revolution; the hazardous undertakings of Washington's principal secret agent behind the lines of New York City during the British occupation. He was known to Washington as "Samuel Culper, Junior" and is here presented under the name of Richard Pryne. His story has never been told before, since the part that he played has only recently come to light.

THE LIVING AND THE DEAD by Patrick White is a novel of three human beings whose innermost conflicts and basic courage are set forth with understanding and compassion—a son who represents death, a daughter who struggues up to life, and a mother who wavers between the two.

Other Fiction:

QUICK SERVICE by Wodehouse; ODOR OF VIOLETS, Kendrick; BROKEN VASE, Stout.

New Non-Fiction:

Jawaharlal Nehru's autobiography, TOWARD FREEDOM, is the amazing story of one of the most powerful personalities in Asia today, a man who has given up wealth and security, submitted to punishment and repeated prison terms, to make his people free. A Hindu, he is a fighter for democracy, anti-Hitler, anti-Nazi and anti-Fascist.

For 23 years Carveth Wells wanted to revisit the tropical land he described with such rare entertainment in "Six Years in the Malay Jungle." Recently his wish was gratified, and NORTH OF SINGAPORE is the gay-spirited saga of the trip to the "Topsy Turvy Land" where, for six years as a young engineer, he fought the jungle and helped build a railroad. He records in prose and picture the finding of some strange animals; among them are the tiny three-pound deer and the tree-climbing fish.

GOLDEN GATE by Felix Riesenberg, jr., is a popularly written story of San Francisco harbor. The city's maritime history, packed with stirring incidents, is traced with all its romance from the days of Sir Francis Drake through the period of extravagant growth to the earthquake and the longshoremen's strike of recent times.

ROBESPIERRE AND THE FOURTH ESTATE by Ralph Korngold is the biography of the man whose extraordinary intelligence, passionate convictions, and unswerving will thrust him into the role of supreme leader—Europe's first modern dictator—of the French people.

Also on this list: WESTERN HEMISPHERE DEFENSE by Nichols; MILITARY BASIC COURSE, Cruikshank; JESUS CHRIST THE SAME, Moffatt; AMERICA IS WORTH SAVING, Dreiser; IS THE KINGDOM OF GOD REALISM? by Jones; SILENCE OF THE SEA, Belloc; THE DELAWARE, Wildes; GREAT WINGS AND SMALL, Clark; REPORT ON ENGLAND, Ingersoll; AIRMAN'S LETTER TO HIS MOTHER.

A trap-door spider can resist a 10-pound pull on the door of its burrow.

BUFFALO FOR INDIANS

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo. —(INS)—Indians from Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and North and South Dakota are going to taste buffalo meat again and make warm robes from the huge beasts' shaggy hides. Under plans made by the park service, bucks and squaws from tribes in the five states will share in distribution of 175 buffalo selected from the park herd to reduce the number of animals to range capacity.

GARDEN SEEDS THAT WILL GROW

For many years this (the old "ANGLE") store enjoyed the reputation of selling the finest garden seeds in Mansfield. The present owner values that reputation highly, and means to maintain it.

WE STILL SELL THE FERRY-MORSE SEEDS. WE STILL BUY NEW FRESH STOCK EACH SPRING, WE STILL SELL SEEDS BY THE OUNCE OR POUND. WE STILL SELL "TRUE TO NAME" SEEDS. WE STILL CARRY THE LARGEST VARIETY OF SEEDS IN THIS CITY OR IN ANY CITY NEAR BY.

Seeds cost little but if you lose your first planting because of old, dead stock, the time lost can't be calculated in dollars and cents. So play safe

Do you know this about Pork?

Recent scientific tests show that pork is 96 to 98% digestible

This Seal means that all statements made in this advertisement are acceptable to the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

MILLIONS are now enjoying the pork they love, even more times each week, because they are learning of its complete digestibility, as well as its recently discovered richness in vitamin B_1 (thiamine).

Scientific proof shows that the lean meat of pork is 98% digested, and that fully 96% of the fat is digested. In fact, all meats—pork, lamb, beef and veal, as well as ham, bacon and other smoked meats—are equally digestible.

Pork is now known to be a rich natural source of B vitamins, including vitamin B_1 (thiamine), the vitamin so essential to healthy nerves, the best possible growth of children, good appetite and well-being.

Aren't these adequate reasons to serve that good, full-of

MARKET SHOWS FURTHER TREND TOWARDS RALLY

Industrials, Rails Lead Way as Strike Picture Heartens New York Buyers.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mild rallying inclinations again were displayed by leading industrials and rails in today's stock market but many issues acted a bit tired.

Early support wos given U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, N. Y. Central and Pennsylvania.

Occasionally in arrears were Consolidated Edison, Public Service of N. J., General Electric and duPont.

Major commodities exhibited steadiness.

Apparent settlement of the Bethlehem Steel Strike and stronger governmental efforts to iron out other labor rifts helped sustain speculative sentiment, brokers said. In addition, Yugoslavia's defiance of the Nazis heartened some financial quarters although it was realized German retaliation might cloud the seemingly brighter Balkan picture.

A bullish market argument was found in the survey of Dun & Bradstreet disclosing retail spending throughout the country this week exceeded the camparable 1940 period by 9 to 16 per cent.

LEGAL NOTICE

Howard Thompson, whose last known place of residence was 97 E. Dickson Avenue, Mansfield, Ohio, but who has left said address and gone to parts unknown and whose present address and whereabouts are unknown, to the plaintiff, Martha Thompson, will take notice that said plaintiff has filed an action in the Court of Common Pleas in Richland County, Ohio, being cause No. 25719 of said Court and in which she has sued him for divorce, care, custody and control over their minor child, David Lee, aged 3 months, and that she be awarded all household goods and furnishings free from all claims of the defendant. In said action the following real estate has been described in the petition

"Situated in the City of Mansfield County of Richland and State of Ohio Being In-lot number seventy-six hundred and fifty-eight (7658) of the consecutive numbers of lots in the said City of Mansfield, Ohio together with an easement of three and one half (3½) feet in Lot No. 7658 and three and one half (3½) feet in Lot No. 7657 for a perpetual driveway between said lots running north seventy feet from Dickson Avenue.

"Situated in the City of Mansfield, County of Richland and State of Ohio Being known as lot No. 8567 of the consecutive numbering of lots in said City of Mansfield, Ohio."

Plaintiff also prays that the said real estate to which she has legal title be awarded to her free from all claims of defendant by a sale of dower and otherwise that she be awarded such other and further relief as is just and proper. Defendant is hereby notified that said action will be for hearing in said court on the 26th day of April 1941 or at any time thereafter agreeable to said court.

GEORGE W. BIDDLE,
15½ E. Third St.,
Mansfield, Ohio.
Attorney for Plaintiff.

SETTLE STRIKE AT BETHLEHEM STEEL PLANT

would be without discrimination and that the company would continue to deal with the SWOC as a collective bargaining agency for its members, and that further action regarding selection of an exclusive bargaining agency would await final disposition of a case pending in court.

It was explained the latter clause referred to a labor board order (from which the company has appealed) directing the firm to disestablish the Employes Representative plan. The CIO union struck in protest to an ERP election called in the mill.

An hour later, Morris Mallinger, an official of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, reported that SWOC members had started a walkout at the Cambria works of the Bethlehem Steel company at Johnstown, Pa.

Mallinger said men were leaving their posts in five sections "to prove to the company that they would not tolerate any intimidation and prove that we are organized." Previously the union had served notice it would strike at the Cambria plant if an ERP election was started. Mallinger said he had no reports that ERP ballot boxes had been seen.

In Washington, the "big stick" legislation under consideration probably would authorize direct intervention in cases where manufacturers "fail"—for any reason at all—to carry out defense contracts, it was said.

It thus would broaden the existing provision of the selective service act which gives the government the right to take over plants whose owners "refuse" to cooperate in the manufacture of military equipment.

This provision has not been invoked in any production stoppage to date and advocates of the proposed new legislation said this was due largely to the fact that proprietors of struck plants consistently have contended that they were willing to resume operation but were unable to do so because of conditions beyond their control.

Action to take over plants under the proposed legislation, it was pointed out, automatically would outlaw any strike of employes, since workers then would be placed in the illegal position of striking against the government.

At Milwaukee the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company re-opened its strikebound West Allis plant, in response to the federal government's demand for resumption of operations on $45,000,000 in defense orders, but today a relatively small percentage of the firm's 7,800 employes reported for work.

Striking CIO workers, who were warned by their president at an early morning rally that any who returned to duty would forfeit their union membership, made no effort to stop those who entered the plant. It has been closed since Jan. 22.

At Richmond, Ind., Circuit Judge G. H. Hoelscher summoned a grand jury to investigate disorders yesterday as the strike-closed International Harvester company plant was reopened. A policeman and a picket for CIO strikers were severely injured.

Meantime at Gary, Ind., several thousand CIO members of the steel workers organizing committee picketed the mills of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, barring entry to workers who could not show paid up union cards. The plant employs about 23,000.

Sheriff John Knotts of Lake county had proclaimed a state of emergency in the district but officers did not interfere with the picketing.

Other top developments in the defense labor situation included:

1. Labor Secretary Perkins certified four industrial controversies to the new national defense mediation board for investigation.

2. CIO steel workers announced their present labor agreement with United States Steel company had been extended from March 31 to April 8 to permit continuation of wage negotiations.

The way was opened for the new mediation board to attempt settlement of controversies when Secretary Perkins certified four disputes to the board for investigation. Involving a total of more than 25,000 workers, these were:

A strike of the CIO farm equipment workers organizing committee against four plants of the International Harvester company in Illinois and Indiana.

Strike of some 400 workers at the Vanadium corporation, Bridgeville, Pa., in protest to the hiring of five non-union guards.

Strike of 1,400 CIO workers at the Universal-Cyclops Steel Co., Bridgeville, Pa., for wage increases.

Strike of AFL Electrical Workers at Condensor Corporation of America, South Plainfield, N. J. The strike involves 2,200 employes.

Meanwhile employes of three Bethlehem shipyards in New York harbor voted today on the question of striking for wage increases CIO employes at Bethlehem's Lackawanna plant near Buffalo, N. Y., adopted a resolution last night authorizing the union's international officers to call strike "at their discretion." The union charged the company had failed to live up to an agreement which settled a strike at the plant Feb. 28.

Two strikes were settled last night. Nine hundred workers employed on naval defense contracts at the Walworth Manufacturing company, South Boston, ratified an agreement calling for increased wages. Cranemen at the Pressed Steel Car company plant at Pittsburgh agreed to return to work after wage raises were granted.

RUSH DRAFT OF RATE ORDINANCE

that special meetings could be called at any time.

Porch also announced that he was calling a meeting of his committee, including Councilmen Fred Miller and A. L. Croak for tonight to obtain their support for the ordinance. He indicated that he would present it to council Tuesday and recommend its speedy passage.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said that although he had not studied the proposal enough to make a complete statement on it that he felt "on the face at least, that it will be of great benefit to the low and middle-bracket wage-earners in the city.

Crafton said that he had felt there has been a need for such an ordinance and was glad to see any reduction in electric rates.

Mayor Locke stated that the company is paying approximately 16 cents of every dollar it earns in taxes and praised the service given by it.

"The taxpayers and residents of Mansfield will benefit by this offer," said Porch, "and I feel that it is our duty to accept. As a matter of fact, it's nothing to kick in the teeth."

AXIS AGREEMENT TURNED DOWN BY YUGOSLAVIA

U. S. Promises Aid as Troops Rush to Battle Stations; Turks Talk Assistance.

Germany sent an official protest to Yugoslavia — apparently based, however, on the alleged beating of German citizens in Belgrade, the Yugoslav capital, where wildly enthusiastic Yugoslavs shouted in the streets for war and cried:

"Down with Germany and Italy!"

Authorized quarters in Berlin said they had no immediate comment on the status of Yugoslav-Axis relations, resulting from Yugoslavia's reported bolt from the pact signed Tuesday in Vienna.

The Yugoslav army was described as ready to fight if attacked by German panzer divisions now massing along the Yugoslav-Bulgarian frontier.

German anger was reflected by the Nazi radio which informed the German public of anti-Nazi demonstrations in Yugoslavia.

At the height of the upheaval, the scholarly Regent Prince Paul was arrested near the Hungarian frontier as he sought to flee the country and was brought back to Belgrade.

Later, however, he was freed. With his wife, Princess Olga of Greece, his son and two daughters, he left the Yugoslav capital shortly before midnight last night for Athens.

The Yugoslav populace greeted the coup with roaring approval.

Crowds roamed the streets for hours, wrecking German and Italian travel agencies, storming a theater showing German films, trampling pictures of Hitler and Mussolini, overturning and smashing German automobiles, and beating German and Italian residents. Americans and Britons were cheered.

Assistant German Air Attache Moser was attacked and seriously injured. German and Italian nationals, gaily triumphant only a few hours previously over Yugoslavia's enrollment in the totalitarian bloc, sought frantically to get out of the country.

High diplomatic sources declared Premier Dusan Simovic had advised the German minister Yugoslavia had no intention of participating in any alliance with any nation—either Germany, Britain or Greece.

Simovic was understood to have taken the position that his government would neither renounce nor ratify the treaty.

There was no immediate indication what Germany might do, but even before the Yugoslav decision was reported Nazi troops were said to be moving swiftly from the Bulgarian-Greek frontier to positions on the Yugoslav border.

Developments in Yugoslavia, which held the key to the whole military situation in the Balkans, largely overshadowed new British successes in East Africa interpreted by some observers as foreshadowing a quick end of Italian resistance in that theater of war.

Finally in possession of the stronghold of Cheren, which has been blocking their drive into Eritrea since Feb. 3, British forces were reported pressing rapidly on toward the colonial capital of Asmara, 42 miles to the east.

In Ethiopia, the British were reported pressing on toward Direduwa and the vital Addis Ababa-Jibuti railway after capturing Harar.

Severing of the rail line to Jibuti would cut the last link between the Ethiopian capital and the outside world—except by air—and probably result in its speedy downfall.

England herself experienced another night of freedom from German aerial attacks, but the Royal Air Force stabbed again at industrial targets in the Ruhr and Rhineland sections of western Germany.

In Berlin, informed political circles intimated that Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, now visiting in the German capital, must make up his mind whether Japan will enter the war against Britain actively or be left to face both her and the United States alone later.

The taking of Singapore—key British naval base in the Far East—was mentioned specifically in connection with the possibility of Japanese participation in the war.

Sees Dictators Throttle U. S. On All Sides If Axis Wins

Mussolini succeed in defeating the British in the Mediterranean.

"Watch Africa within the next few weeks," he said. "The Nazis will go down there and with the help of Franco, a Nazi at heart, may be able to pinch the British and defeat them. Franco is the most available instrument to use in Latin America if Hitler wins.

"Franco speaks the Latin American language and it may be Hitler's plan to set him up as the restorer of the Spanish empire in the Americas. Franco won't get to first base, however, unless Hitler makes a home run."

It was a dreary future that Prof. Busch oulined for the United States in the event of victory by the dictators.

"Our first threat is economic," he asserted. "A Hitler victory would make available to him the labor and raw material resources of all Europe, and with the great industrial and transportation systems he could build with them, we couldn't compete with him.

"Our industries and cities would shrivel. We would have to send millions of unemployed to farms to make their living. Our taxes and relief burden would be far greater than we ever dreamed of."

Besides, he added, we would never be certain of the promises of the dictators and when they might attempt to invade the United States. One plan of conquest, he pointed out, calls for a great dictatorial Spanish empire that would take in all of the United States west of the Mississippi river, a part of three southern states, and all of Florida.

"We need the defeat of the dictators before we can hope for any new world order based on fairness and the best interests of humanity," he said.

Statesmen have had ideas of new world orders for centuries, but most of them have failed to attract widespread interest and the one that was tried—the League of Nations—failed because it had no power to enforce its decrees, Prof. Busch pointed out.

"No one will pay any attention to international law until there is some force back of it," he asserted.

Forecasting a great economic collapse at the end of the present war unless we take steps to avoid it, Prof. Busch recommended a world-wide public works program that would dwarf the New Deal's projects as a means of providing beneficial work for the millions who will be looking for jobs when the armies are demobilized.

"Why don't we do something big and provide projects that we really need?" he suggested. He added that most of the world, and particularly England, needs a housing program; the United States needs new highways, and a number of countries could use flood prevention and soil conservation projects.

"Of course future generations would have to pay for all this, but they would have a lasting heritage when they got it paid for," he said.

Novelist Louis Bromfield introduced Prof. Busch as "One of the few men qualified to talk on the subject of new world orders."

Next speaker in the lecture series will be Eugene Lyons, editor of American Mercury magazine, a foreign correspondent, and author of the book, "Assignment in Utopia." He will speak here April 28.

NAZIS WAITING DEFINITE REPLY

However, the general impression was that Simovic's statement of general policy was unsatisfactory.

Germany protested to the new Yugoslav government today concerning yesterday's events in Belgrade in which German citizens were said to have been attacked but authorized sources said beyond that they were unable to make any statement on the status of Yugoslav-Axis relations.

From the general attitude of these sources, it appeared plain to observers, however, that Yugoslav Premier General Dusan Simovic's declaration on behalf of the new government did not satisfy Germany.

This dissatisfaction was further registered by the fact that the German radio acquainted the German public with anti-German demonstrations and actions in Yugoslavia.

Authorized sources said that at present there was no possibility of a full evaluation of the Yugoslav situation and hence no official reaction.

Communications were poor, it was said, reports often were contradictory, and if could not be estimated at present to what extent British Prime Minister Churchill's utterances (of "common cause" with the new Belgrade regime) were propaganda or rested on political reality.

The former Yugoslav government's adherence to the Axis military pact three days ago, official sources reiterated, is a legal pact and became such with the signing ceremony at Vienna.

Company Reveals Woodland Exchange Ready To Be Switched Over.

to the central exchange on a trunk line, Woodland subscribers will dial each other directly, thereby increasing the exchange's capacity for Woodland calls by approximately 33⅓ per cent.

Hirsch said that the company would soon begin an educational program to instruct subscribers in the use of the dial. For this first year in the change-over both the old and new numbers will be listed in the telephone directory to be issued soon.

On the left of the subscriber's name will be a number marked "Call Manual" and on the right another number marked "Dial." If the subscriber takes the receiver off the hook and gets no dial tone, which is a steady humming sound, he knows that he has not yet been changed over and that the operator will ask for the number.

He will give her the "Call Manual" number, the one to the left of the name, the same four-digit number he has been using.

If, however, he does get the dial tone, he knows that he has been converted to dial operation. He therefore dials the five-digit number to the right of the subscriber's name marked "Dial." The last digit will suplant the present exchange names.

The beginning of the conversion to full automatic operation in the county took place in 1930 when the Adario exchange was changed to dial operation after a fire had wiped out the semi-automatic equipment. Following Adario, Shiloh, Butler, Lexington and Bellville were converted.

In recent years, new exchanges were installed in the Woodland area of Mansfield, on Mifflin road outside the city limits, on North Main street road near the airport, and in Ontario. These exchanges were all established to relieve the load in the main exchange and to convert all subscribers outside the city over to dial operation. The change was completed last year.

"Mansfield and the surrounding country has grown materially within the last 20 years," said Hirsch, "and from a telephone standpoint, it has grown faster than the population would indicate. The people have become 'telephone conscious' to a remarkable degree, and the use of the phone has increased to an astonishing extent, so that the number of times a person uses the telephone per day, is far in excess than the average within the state, at least, and possibly in the country as a whole."

Hirch said that the stations in service on the company's system are far in excess of those on systems in towns similar in size, and that "it is probably due more than anything to the newspaper advertising campaign of the company as well as to the persons directly in charge of new business."

leading citizens engineers next week to consider the entire sewage problem.

Crafton and J. R. Turner, superintendent of the plant, went to Elyria today to inspect that city's plant and to find what problems it met in resuming service after by-passing sewage during winter months.

Both Crafton and the mayor said that the Mansfield plant would probably resume full operation within the next week or ten days. They said that this was not due to Sowers' criticism but was a part of the city's original plan when by-passing was started in December.

Crafton said that in order to resume operations that special problems, concerning bacteria count and other technicalities must be considered and indicated, that Elyria officials' advice will be sought.

Both the letter from Sowers and another from the state department of health received earlier in the week advocated the issuance of bonds to improve the city's sewer system to facilitate the operation of the sewage disposal plant.

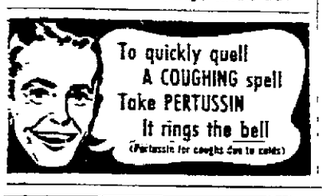

Crafton said that the department had never condemned the practice of by-passing partially treated sewage and that Elyria made it an annual practice as an economy measure.

OLD TROOPER RECALLS PAST

Cavalryman of '80s Recounts Events Transpiring While He Helped Open West.

(By United Press)

FORT DAVIS, Tex.—Still alert and interested in how soldiers fight, Anton Aggermann, 83-year-old one-time U. S. cavalryman, lives at the site where 60 years ago his company was stationed while helping open up the Wild West.

"Right over there is where the reservation was," he tells visitors as he points to a spot just across the highway from his home.

"And what days they were," he said. "When we went out on patrol or scouting trips, we never were sure who was coming back. Soldiers in those days had to be plenty tough and plenty hard."

But it was of the pay nights that Aggerman likes to talk.

"They were something," he exclaims.

"Saturday evenings once a month in the 1880's were when the soldiers, enlisted men and officers both, got paid at the post," he recalls.

In front of the quartermaster's door would be a long line of soldiers—troopers in field uniforms which still showed the effects of rough treatment on the trail.

"Near the door would stand a table crowned with gold and silver. Guards well armed, would flank both sides of the paymaster," he said. "On the table, the money would be assorted in stacks of $13, $14 and $15—private's, corporal's and sergeant's pay."

Aggerman said that most of the soldiers' pay went "one of 14 routes—to those fellows handling whisky in bottles, jugs, or barrels, with string music for chasers, or to one of the gambling joints."

The post had a large adobe compound where on almost any evening would be standing 100 head of post-stick and trail-worn horses and mules, all freshly groomed, and the trail-worn ones newly shod.

The mules were slick, small and nail hard. They were used to haul the canvas-topped ambulances and coaches through the rocky defiles between here and Van Horn Wells, to where the stage ran.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Although these stories at the Mansfield Public library are about teen-age boys many other readers will enjoy them too. The first tells of a boy's adventure trying to farm alone on a tiny Vermont farm. The other tells of many people whom one boy meets.

CALL OF THE MOUNTAIN by Cornelia Meigs — Nathan knows that "if the valley has no place for a man there are always the mountains," but he had found a place in the valley. Very soon he felt no longer welcome in the valley so he went into the hills and tried to make a home for himself there. It was a bitter struggle, but he grew older and stronger because of it and earned a welcome everywhere.

TUMBLEDOWN DICK by Howard Spring—Dick's father raised a market garden in a small English town. They were poor but Dick didn't realize it for his life was rich with people. The reader also becomes rich as he reads of one after another of these delightful people, the magician, the Lady Mayoress, Aunt Maria, and many others.

PASSES EXAM FOR BUC POST

Bellville School Superintendent Qualifies For Job.

Wendell B. Edgerly, superintendent of Bellville schools, was listed today among the 16 Ohioans who passed the civil service examination for a supervisor's post in the bureau of unemployment compensation. The job pays $200 to $250 a month.

Edgerly's name will be included in the list of applicants who qualified for supervisor. It was not indicated how many of the supervisors' jobs will be open.

Five other applicants qualified for a position as research economist in the unemployment bureau. The post pays from $2,400 to $3,000 a year.

Edgerly has headed the Bellville schools since 1938. Although his present contract expires this year, he has not indicated to school officials that he plans to leave, it was learned.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN HERE AGREE TO ASSIST IN DEFENSE CAUSE

In the final phase of a campaign to register members for service in the event of a serious national defense emergency, the Mansfield branch of the American Association of University Women yesterday announced that three-fourths of its membership had already agreed to some form of participation if their help is needed.

Return of 83 registration cards out of 100 distributed thus far showed 77 willing to work part time and six full time; 51 members volunteered their services while others said they would work if some type of payment were made.

The drive which began in January is part of a nationwide registration campaign and is in charge of Esther Barnett, social studies chairman of the Mansfield branch.

Miss Barnett reported that 41 of the women contacted expressed their willingness to take training courses in defense work if offered locally.

Others reported a number of skills ranging from foreign language translation to the making of surgical dressings in which they were proficient and could offer experienced help.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1941.

Rebellion Against Law and Order

UPON the outcome of government intervention in the Allis-Chalmers strike in Milwaukee may depend determination of whether decisions by labor leaders are to stand above those of federal authorities.

Information is given that companies holding more than a third of all United States defense contracts are affected by the Allis-Chalmers strike, which has been in progress more than two months. The nation's warship and airplane building program, even its move to strengthen defense of the Panama Canal, have been crippled by this strike, which has hampered defense work in more than thirty large factories.

The seriousness of this situation was recognized by Defense Chief William S. Knudsen and Secretary of Navy Frank Knox when they wired officials of the Allis-Chalmers company: "We must ask you to notify your entire force to report for work and start operations immediately—" but Harold Christoffel, president of the striking CIO union, said the strike would go on until union members voted otherwise.

Meanwhile violence continued to mark strike zones in other parts of the country, with evidence of total disregard of police authority or the orderly processes of law.

It does injustice to the high purposes of organized labor, and the public sympathy and support which the movement has been accorded, to assume that the several million adherents of either the A. F. of L. or the CIO approve strikes in vital defense industries or the exhibitions of lawlessness which mark some of these occurrences.

It must be presumed that a large majority of members of labor unions, as well as non-unionists and all other intelligent Americans, realize that in a nation of self-governing people orderly processes of law are essential to preservation of the rights and privileges of individuals and minority groups—AND THAT THE AGENCIES OF LAW MUST NOT BE FLOUTED.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson yesterday urged states to speed formation of home guard units, to be available for use in the event of serious labor disturbances, or other conditions which might retard the defense program.

Absence of national guardsmen from states has made some other form of protection necessary and the urgency of this need is emphasized by the rioting, property destruction and personal injuries inflicted in various strike zones within the past few days.

The Ohio legislature has adopted dilatory tactics in handling home guard legislation or in enlarging the personnel and granting full police powers to the state highway patrol.

Objections have been offered to the proposal to give full police authority to state highway patrolmen—in the light of past experience and present conditions those objections are the strongest possible argument in favor of the proposal. LAW-ABIDING PEOPLE HAVE NO FEAR OF POLICE AUTHORITY!

Electric Rate-Reduction Offered

VOLUNTARY offer by the Ohio Public Service company to reduce domestic electric rates in the Mansfield area is in accord with the sound business policy of encouraging increased use of current and spread of electrical conveniences to a greater number of homes.

The fact that Mansfield has already gained national and international attention through large production of electrical household equipment makes this a logical city in which to test the extent of consumer possibilities under an attractive rate schedule.

The past decade has been marked by amazing progress in the field of urban and rural electrification, with invention and production keeping pace with a steadily growing demand for more and better household electrical appliances.

As presented to Mayor Locke and city council, the proposal of Ohio Public Service company is said to represent an annual saving of approximately $70,000, through a five-year term of contract.

It is also stated that the rates being offered Mansfield are as low as those in any city served by the Ohio Public Service company.

Looking toward the five-year period of the proposed rate-making contract, and having in mind the interests of consumers, city officials and members of council will wish to go fully into the matter of comparable rates in other Ohio cities similarly served.

A point of interest will be in connection with assurance that Mansfield rates will be AS LOW as those in any city in which the Ohio Public Service company operates, as the matter of giving opportunity for home use of more current would be a community benefit by increasing electrical equipment in many homes.

If, after investigation, city officials and councilmen feel satisfied that the proposed rate-reduction is fair to consumers and to the operating company, such action as will assure effectiveness of a new contract at the earliest possible date seems advisable.

From Reformatory To Penitentiary

DIFFICULTIES connected with operation of a parole system are seen, to some extent, in the incident involving three reformatory inmates who escaped, after being paroled, and who are now under sentence to the penitentiary for a kidnaping they committed while at liberty.

The conduct of these young men, in the age range from 24 to 26, and their display of viciousness after escaping, is quite conclusive proof that favorable parole action was at least premature and that reformation efforts had thus far been futile. In each of the cases original sentence to the reformatory was on charges of robbery, burglary and assault to rob.

As was well said by Common Pleas Judge Huston, in imposing penitentiary sentences: "We are continually annoyed by a few inmates of the reformatory who think they can prey on residents of this county in their attempts to escape." Assurance of severe penalties in cases of this sort may result in some potential escapees making a greater effort to overcome the "impulse" to which they usually attribute their flight.

A sociologist predicts: "Civilization as we know it will last 40,000 more years"—after which there may be an era of civilization.

An item from the Albanian fighting front told of Italian soldiers "running in all directions"—except forward, no doubt.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

Mail Service to Training Camps

—By JACK STINNETT

(This is the second of two articles on how more than a million men in army training camps are going to get their mail.)

WASHINGTON — Among the lessons learned by the army overseas in World War 1 was the great importance of seeing that Private Johnny Q. Doe got his mail from home with the least possible delay.

But it was 20 years after that before the war and postoffice departments finally got together and laid down their "constitution and by-laws" in a working agreement. Briefly, the postoffice department takes the mail through the main camp postoffices and the army takes it from there on.

A letter, properly addressed, would go this route: (1) From the train to the camp main postoffice, where it would be sorted for distribution to the division or corps or other unit postoffices. (2) These sort it again for distribution to the company mail orderlies, who (3) twice a day distribute it among the men.

It sounds simple enough, but take the problems of frequently changing personnel, transfers of units, duplication of names, extended field maneuvers, and improper addresses and you see that assuring Private Doe of mail from home without delay is a pretty complex business.

Draws on War Experience.

COL. W. A. KENYON, who heads the APO (army postoffice) has taken a page from his experiences as No. 1 postman overseas in World War 1 and developed the system now in use. In the first place, all division, corps or unit postoffices are numbered.

They were numbered in the other war, too, in sequence starting with one. But it wasn't very long before it was discovered that every time a letter fell into enemy hands, that number in the frank, or cancellation, supplied the enemy with information as to how many army units were in the field and how they were distributed. The numbers were changed twice, but that didn't help much.

Now, the division and unit postoffices still are numbered in sequence, but in a different way. All infantry division postoffices take their numbers from between 1 and 200; cavalry divisions from 201 to 250, and so on. So the number in the frank, merely means that the unit with that number is at that point. These postoffices move with their units. If a unit moves from Benning in Georgia to Dix in New Jersey, or if it takes the field, its postoffice goes along.

Use Serial Numbers.

TO AVOID confusion through duplication or similarity of names, each man uses his army serial number after his name, so no matter if there are 9,000 Smiths and 8,000 Johnsons in training (if the World war ratio holds, there will be that many this summer), each will have that distinctive serial number.

To handle transfers of individuals, three sets of card files, with cards for every man in the army makes tracing a greatly simplified matter. Improperly addressed letters finally reach their sources through a process of elimination. The letter is sent to every unit postoffice in the camp until the man is found and if he isn't, it's checked against the transfer files before it is returned or sent to the dead letter office.

By this system, Colonel Kenyon thinks he might eventually deliver a letter addressed like that one which bore only the private's name and the address, "No. 4 in the Front Rank, A. E. F."

An Overseas Plan.

THE APO also has an overseas plan worked out—not that they think they'll need it but they are not going to be caught napping again. Already, in a minor way, it has come into use with the forces at the Atlantic bases acquired from Great Britain, from whom the government has just obtained an agreement to allow mail to these bases, from Newfoundland to British Guiana, to go for the domestic postal rates.

From all of this, you may see it is you and you and you who can cause the APO its greatest trouble when you fail to address a letter or package properly. Colonel Kenyon says the correct form is

Pvt. Johnny Doe (army serial number)
Company F
167th Infantry
APO 33
U. S. A.

Or instead of U. S. A. the camp name and state.

Weaving In the Dark

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

("Won't you," he writes, "please republish something you wrote about 'blind weavers' long ago? I think it was back in the early 20's. I was just a flighty kid then and I thought it was awful dreary stuff. But today, Elsie, I'm blind myself. I need the words I laughed at then. Help me if you can.—H. W. T.

SO I'VE RUMMAGED back through the countless files and I've found the piece H. W. T. wants. And never, I believe, was there a time when we all needed it so badly. If ever weavers wove in darkness, not knowing the pattern or purpose, we do now. Yet, if there's anything decent or sturdy in us, we must go on. And so, I'm bringing the old words back, changed a bit, but only to suit my own wider understanding.

THERE'S a rug on my floor. It's a small rug, handwoven, but as beautiful and natural as something planted by the wind and sun and soil. Hand-made things have that look, as if something of life itself went into their making. The threads which make the warp in my rug are blue and gold and brown, and through it runs a woof of foggy gray, heather purple with some vivid flecks of green. This may seem rather scrambled, but actually, it's like a bit of woodland carpeting that rug . . . now dull, as though the colors slept . . . and then all sparkling with living light. I'm foolishly fond of that rug. And yet, it moves my heart. Here's why:

There's a certain strangeness in that rug which tells the soul of anyone who understands its making. The margins are not even . . . the design has gone astray. Threads are broken. Sometimes the colors do not match. Why? Because the weaver of that rug was blind. He never saw the colors or the pattern that he wove.

All day that weaver sat and wove with woof and warp of scarlet, green and brown. He had a chart and numbered pegs by which he groped his way. And so he wove within his endless night, building a strip of beauty which his eyes would never see, yet which reflected the hunger in his shadowed soul.

Sometimes the weaving went right, as though his fingers held a song. But sometimes he grew weary and indifferent, or gave way to despair. And then his fingers slipped. He jumbled the marked keys, forgot the chart. And margins went awry . . . the design was marred.

So wove that weaver. So weave I, and You. For we, too, work in darkness which we cannot pierce. The doctors say our eyes are healthy, whole. But there's a blindness in our groping soul—we cannot see the way.

Blindly we come to take our seat beside the loom of life . . . blindly we leave when night tells us to go. The little laws which other men have built in other days are tags by which we feel our way. Upon them all our deeds and dreams are hung, to wait their weaving into the fabric of our life.

Sometimes the thread is scarlet like a song or gold with love, or white with faith and prayer. Sometimes the woof is drab and brown, sullied with blundering and despair. And often, too, our fingers slip and all the plan is marred . . . or snarled with angry hands, because we cannot see the meaning of it all. And yet, whatever comes, we weave and weave—and weave.

God, take our weaving
Despite all its snarls
It's broken pattern
And its stains of tears—
And see it through
Your love and living eyes,
Not something perfect—
But the best we had to give—
For it is hard to weave
When one is blind.

Russia Nudges Closer to Britain, Fears Nazis Plan Ukraine Attack

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—No one can ever tell just what is going on in the Kremlin, but here is how the diplomatic dispatches explain the apparent shift of Russia slightly over to the British side of the war scale.

It is now generally agreed by the best U. S. military observers—and probably also by the Russians—that Hitler will have to win his war by July this year or else face serious consequences.

These consequences will be:

1. Tremendously increased munitions and ship production by the U. S. A. After July 1, American factories will really get into their stride.
2. The necessity of finding food for Europe next winter.
3. The necessity of finding more oil, especially if the British succeed in blowing up Rumanian oil wells, which they definitely plan to do.
4. The necessity of pulling a new rabbit out of the hat to please the German people. So far Hitler has pulled out new victories at periodic intervals—Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Norway, the Low Countries, France. But the rabbits have come fewer and harder recently. The German people are reported to be restless.

Only answer to these dilemmas is Russia. The vast and fertile fields of the Ukraine, rich in wheat, iron ore and lying just across from the oil fields of the Caucasus, are sure to beckon to Hitler.

And if he still is unable to take England by July, it more than likely seems that he will bite off the Ukraine. This probability increases if war in the Balkans disrupts the spring planting. For one reason why Hitler has been so patient with Yugoslavia is because the crops of the Balkans are vital to Germany.

All of which is not being lost upon Russia.

"Kleptomaniac" Ickes.

INSIDE the Inner Circle, New Dealers long have argued as to who shall administer the country's giant new power projects.

Secretary Harold Ickes, militant public power advocate, wants them under his interior department. Bonneville Dam now is, but other New Dealers oppose this on the ground that future secretaries of the interior might not be as public-power-minded as Ickes. They favor administration by independent boards, such as the TVA.

Senator George Norris, venerable father of TVA, discussed this with the president recently in connection with the proposed Arkansas Valley power project.

With a grin, Roosevelt interrupted.

"You know, George," he said, "when it comes to power projects, Harold is a kleptomaniac."

Coal Act Battle.

INSIDERS are keeping their lips buttoned, but there was a heated row in the house ways and means committee over extending the Guffey Bituminous Coal act, due to expire April 25.

The committee agreed to approve a bill prolonging the life of the Coal act two more years; also to re-establish the office of Consumers' Counsel as an independent adjunct of the Bituminous Coal commission. But this was voted only after some strenuous demurring by Representative A. Willis Robertson of Virginia.

A conservative Democrat, Robertson loudly opposed continuing the act on the ground that its price-fixing features were a "dangerous threat" to democratic processes.

"If we approve price controls in the coal industry," Robertson thundered, "it will probably spread to other industries, and before we know it the price of everything will be fixed by the government. Such a policy is extremely dangerous at this time when we're delegating so much power to the executive branch of the government."

New Dealers inside the committee retorted that the present stabilized condition and prosperity of the coal industry was due chiefly to the Guffey act. Its continuance, they said, was desired by mine owners and labor alike. They also pointed out that the buying public would be fully protected by the re-creation of the Consumers' counsel, abolished last year when the coal commission was placed under the jurisdiction of the interior department.

The battle raged for an hour before Robertson finally ran to cover. Then to everyone's surprise, he joined in voting to extend the act.

Note—After the debate was over chairman Bob Doughton, courtly North Carolinian, imposed strict secrecy on all committee members. "Not a word" was to be breathed to newspaper men, he said, "especially not to the Washington Merry-Go-Round."

Merry-Go-Round.

FOR seven years, whenever the president has taken a trip, Pharmacist George Fox has gone along, to give therapeutic treatments. This time he stayed at home. . . . The under-cover feud between bulky Frank McHale, one-time Indiana Democratic boss, and Fred F. Bays, genial state Democratic chairman, may break out into the open over a federal judgeship. McHale is pushing two conservative pals, his ex-law partner, Michael L. Fransler, and George Stephens, while Bays insists that a liberal be named. . . . Following a broadcast explaining the Arkansas Valley bill, which he authored, young Representative Clyde Ellis received more than 10,000 letters from all parts of the country asking for details about the plan.

Floating Defense Homes.

DEFENSE chiefs may soon inaugurate mobile housing units for defense workmen on the water as well as land, if the novel plan of Housing Co-ordinator Charles F. Palmer pans out.

Negotiations are under way for the purchase of an excursion boat to alleviate a serious housing shortage at Portsmouth, Virginia, where a giant naval construction project is under way. If successful here, the plan may be tried out at other seaboard defense centers.

Palmer hopes eventually to have a number of these "floating hotels," which would eliminate the delay and expense of erecting stationary housing units. The ships could be quickly connected to shore water and power lines and, once they have served their purpose, be moved to some other point.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Cleaning out the ice box the day before payday. Children are almost a curiosity in downtown Manhattan. To find children in New York you have to get on the sidestreets and into the residential districts. . . . In Jackson Heights, which is a part of Queens borough, which is a part of New York, they say you aren't an official resident until you've had a baby there. . . . On Saturday afternoons the traffic congestion in Jackson Heights caused by baby carriages is something fierce. . . .

You can get on an elevated train out in Flushing, where they held the World's fair, and ride across the East river, go south to Chatham Square, transfer back north on the Third avenue elevated to the end of the line well past Fordham university, transfer to a subway and ride to Grand Central, transfer to a Flushing train, which goes under the river home again—more than 800 blocks all for one nickel. . . .

THE Statue of Liberty still is a must on every visitor's list, and sight of its affects them in a lot of different ways. I know one guy who had waited 30 years to see it, and when he did he came to a dead stop and saluted the old girl. . . . And I heard of a woman who had lived in New York all her life, old enough to have a daughter in high school, and never had found time to go and see it. . . . But then, there are elderly natives who never have been in Times Square on New Year's eve, although crowd-hungry people have come all the way from Australia just for the event. . . .

New York has 23,628 taxicabs, which mildly astonishing fact came out when the ban against cab cruising on snooty Fifth avenue was lifted temporarily during the bus strike. That's enough taxicabs to provide one apiece for everyone in Freeport, Ill., Billings, Mont., or Reno, Nev.

NEW YORK couldn't be what it is without apartment houses, which are being built and torn down all the time. The heavy turnover is partly because some apartment houses are built as "taxpayers." The building is put together to last gracefully for only 15 years or so. In that time, if all goes well, it will have returned its individual investment plus taxes on the property. . . .

The first apartment house built in New York, back in 1869, still is in use at 142 East 18th street, not far from the northern fringe of Greenwich village. There was a great to-do about the apartment house idea at the time, the better element contending that immorality would follow the grouping of unrelated persons under one roof. . . . Some fairly famous people have lived at 142—General Custer's widow, Stephen Baux who laid out Central Park and Oliver Herford, an artist and writer. No. 142 is a five door walkup with wide staircases. Three fireplaces are in every apartment, and mantels are of imported Italian marble. It was a very fancy spot in its day. . . .

Well well. Imagine that! The ice box is all cleaned out. Ought to be a nice day tomorrow.

A Farmer's Diary

Wild Neighbors

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT WAS warm last night. The furnace fire was low, but not low enough. To regulate the temperature, I opened the front door in the living room and the window where I slept. The southeast breeze brought odors of awakening pastures, and selling, rejuvenated earth. No wild flowers, no crocuses, not even dandelions—yet the lovely fragrant breath bore a blessed, springlike message.

A scurry and a squeak in the walls of the house, brought the remark from my wife that the wild folk must be moving in on us. Perhaps that was what made me dream as I did. For hardly had my head touched the pillow until it seemed that a rabbit and a ground hog came into the room and each stood on his haunches and peeked to see whether I was asleep. It seemed so real that I smiled ecstatically—and woke up.

Then, out in the kitchen, I heard a noise. It went about incautiously—the peculiar plop, plop of heavy feet. Some wild thing was indeed there—and there was only one of all of them whom I would not wish to disturb unduly. I got up and went toward the opening between the rooms. All was still. Perhaps I had been mistaken.

I walked to the outside door and had my hand on the knob to close it when there came a thump and a clatter and between my heels bounded a large rabbit. It looked much like the one who lives beneath the porch. I watched and saw her enter, by a circuitous route. By Easter, I feel sure, we shall have a family of real Easter bunnies. Already I have seen stray balls of dark fur about the entrance.

Another gentle family of wild folk lives just above the eaves in our attic. Sometimes they have a dance or a game of tag above our ceiling; when we are asleep. But all winter we have lived in the same house, and I have seen them but twice. They have a dainty modest home of grass, sticks and fur and always keep their doorstep clean.

I heard one squeak and saw it crawl along the studding when I suddenly turned my flashlight on. I hope, when spring arrives, we shall be able to observe the clean, soft, furry babies of the flying squirrels.

CHAPTER XI.

No girl had ever been so happy as she was at that moment. All fears had been swept away by Karl's proposal of marriage.

When they entered his private office he drew her to him, kissed her and said, "I have a surprise for you."

'What is it?" Her eyes shone like a child's in their happiness.

Karl smiled as he opened his safe and drew out a small velvet box. Snapping open the lid, he took out a ring, a magnificent emerald set in plain platinum. It was a large stone, beautifully cut.

"Oh Karl! Karl! It's gorgeous!"

"Emeralds to match your eyes," Karl said as he slipped the ring on her finger.

Suddenly the words of Eric Strom came back to her: "A woman with green eyes is very rare . . ." Why must she think of Eric Strom now? Like a warning of evil in the midst of her new joy.

Hurrying home at six o'clock, Joan displayed the ring to Sybil.

"We're engaged, Syb! We're going to be married in two or three months."

"Karl asked you to marry him?" Sybil repeated unbelievingly. "That's a beautiful emerald, Joan! Must have cost a fortune."

'You don't seem very enthusiastic."

"Frankly I'm not,' Sybil confessed.

"I suppose you would have been better pleased if Karl and I had quit," Joan said coldly.

Sybil was silent for a moment, then said, "You're not going to be married for at least two months?"

"That's right. Sybil, what's the matter with you? You act so mysterious lately. Is anything wrong?"

"Not a thing in the world," Sybil denied. "I just wondered, that's all."

Joan could not worry about Sybil's meaning now. She could not worry about anything. Karl wanted to marry her! His ring gleamed on her white hand! She could scarcely wait to see Paul Sherman and tell him the good news, but Paul did not appear at the Club Elite that night or for several nights to come.

The days passed rapidly, magically for Joan.

"You'll have to get a new secretary," she told Karl. "My mind is definitely not on my work."

He smiled at her. "There's plenty of time for that later."

And then one night, as Joan sat alone in the office typing, Paul Sherman made an appearance. He was as good-looking, as debonair and cheerful as ever.

"Did you miss me?" he inquired, grinning at Joan. "Karl sent me out of town."

Joan smiled. She was going to enjoy telling Paul. He had been so sure about Karl, so prejudiced.

"Not much," she informed him airly. "A lot has happened while you were gone."

"Such as what?"

"Karl and I are going to be married," she said proudly.

Paul's expression changed. He advanced towards Joan's desk repeating incredulously, "Do you mean that Karl Miller has asked you to marry him?"

There was something in his face that took the joy out of her announcement but she said calmly, "Yes! You were wrong about Karl."

"I was wrong all right," he agreed savagely. "I suppose nothing I can say now will make any difference."

Joan smiled. "That's right."

"When is the happy event taking place?"

"In about two or three months. We're going away on a long honeymoon."

"Is that so?"

Joan was really annoyed with him now. The least he could do was admit he had been wrong.

"Well, its your funeral, my girl!" Paul said, and jamming his hat down on his head he bolted out of the office.

Joan smiled as she turned back to her work. Perhaps Sybil had been right. Maybe Paul was in love with her. But he certainly had a peculiar way of showing it.

But Paul Sherman was comparatively unimportant in Joan's life now. As Christmas approached, she found herself thinking more and more about her soming marriage to Karl. She wanted to make plans, select new clothes, even quit her job as Karl's secretary. But Karl discouraged her.

"There's plenty of time, and I can't do without you at the office now." Taking her in his arms, he murmured: "I don't want you to be away from me for one moment."

That settled it. It was impossible for Joan to displease him. She loved him so intensely that she was rapidly discarding all her own ideas for his. She wanted to be part of him in every way. His ideas, plans, and wishes were hers. She accepted them all willingly.

Sybil seldom mentioned her sister's approaching marriage. She was behaving strangely these days, saying little, staring into space for long periods. And Paul Sherman was almost rude when he saw Joan. He glanced at her briefly. His greeting was curt.

Joan shrugged off these small annoyances as unimportant. It was true that Sybil and Paul were behaving badly, but her world was Karl. It lay within the radius of his smile, the circle of his arms. She moved in an enchanted dream. He was her idol, her adored. She could find no fault with him. The small doubts she had before were completely wiped away by the fact that they were planning to be married. Even Sybil and Paul had admitted that marriage would prove Karl's sincerity. To Joan it did, even though the other two seemed no more kindly disposed towards him than before.

And so life moved on triumphantly until the week before Christmas. It was a rainy, windy winter day and San Franciscans thronged the shops armed with umbrellas and galoshes. The stores were open at night now and Joan found herself elbowing her way through the crowd shortly after 7 o'clock. She had dined downtown preparatory to buying Karl's Christmas present.

It was the happiest Christmas season that Joan could remember. She took a childlike delight in the crowds, the gayly decorated shops, the important matter of choosing Karl's present. She wanted to buy him a cigaret case, something in leather with his initials in gold. But she delayed her decision until too late to make the purchase.

"Ten past 8!" Joan exclaimed, glancing at the clock on the corner. "I'll have to come back tomorrow."

She took a taxi to the Club Elite and arrived breathlessly in Karl's private office.

He laughed at her excitement. "Does Christmas always affect you this way?"

"Only this one, darling! This one is special."

"You are happy, liebchen?"

"Happy? Oh, Karl! I'm the happiest girl in the world." She twined eager, young arms about his neck. Karl! Strange man! Man of steel and hard blue eyes, that made his tenderness seem sweeter in contrast.

"I love you, Karl!"

There was no doubt in her heart as his lips touched hers. No premonition of disaster. She was completely sure, completely happy.

It was 9:30 when the office door opened to admit Eric Strom.

"Ah?" Karl said, and Joan noticed that his voice was annoyed. "You come early."

Eric shrugged indifferent shoulders. "You wanted to see me?"

"Ja!" Karl said, rising.

Eric went to the cleverly concealed little bar, opened it and reached for a bottle.

Karl glanced at Joan. "Go to the dining room. I'll send for you in about ten minutes."

Joan obeyed but she was worried. She did not like the way Eric had loked at Karl. Evidently there was bad feeling between them. But why?

The club was crowded with a gay holiday group. Joan went into the bar and took her place on a tall stool.

"Something to drink?"

"No, thank you," Joan said, "I'm waiting for Mr. Miller." She looked at her watch. Exactly ten o'clock. She hoped Karl would not be long. She was jealous of each moment he spent with anyone else.

She was so deep in her own thoughts that she did not hear Paul Sherman until he spoke a second time.

"Fancy finding you here," he was saying as he caught her attention.

"I'm waiting for Karl."

Paul smiled ruefully, "I might have known it."

"Are we going through this again?" Joan asked. "It's Christmas time, Paul. I'm happy and I don't want to quarrel with anyone."

Paul's brown eyes twinkled. "Even me?"

"Even you," she said firmly. "Let's call a truce, shall we?"

"It's a deal. And to prove it, how about a dance with me?"

She hesitated, but Paul pulled her to her feet.

"I won't take no for an answer. Even Karl can't begrudge me one dance."

Paul was an excellent dancer and Joan was relieved that he seemed resigned to the situation.

She really wanted to be friends with everyone, to share her happiness with the whole world.

30 ON NEW LIST OF SELECTEES GOING TO CAMP

Richland's Three Draft Boards Prepare to Send First of Quota for April.

Thirty Mansfield and Richland county young men had been chosen today by the county's three selective service boards for induction into the army next Thursday.

They will be the first group to leave the county in April. While the county boards have received no other calls so far for the month they anticiapte a heavy quota for April.

Board clerks pointed out, however, that unless another call is received immediately, it is probable that no other men will be taken from the county between April 3 and 15. It requires about two weeks to get men ready to leave after a call is received.

Named by Board 1 to go to Fort Hayes, Columbus, on April 3 were:

Willard Stanley Craig, 424 Louise avenue; Richard R. Stander, 497 Marion avenue; Henry T. Hiles, 252 Ruth avenue; Ralph H. Shaffer, 123 West Third street; Arthur Van Auker, 126 Poplar street; Hobart Harry Rice, 89 Lexington avenue; Charles Edgar Bowers, 569 Heinemann boulevard; Donald Lloyd Gestenslager, 174 Vennum avenue; Robert Eugene Sneeringer, 39 West Park boulevard; Donald Edgar Baxter, R. D. 4; William Frederick Harper, 207 South Mulberry street.

Chosen by Board 2 were:

A. George Gabor, 138 Blecker street; Franklin S. Hill, 90 South Main street; Richard Ralph Bunting, 40 Wolfe avenue; Frank George Parman, 370 Newman street; Henry Herbert Ward, 149 North Franklin avenue; Henry E. Cunning, R. D. 5; Nicholas M. Rachel, 461 Dewey avenue; Eugene Lester Keck, R. D. 5; Arthur Franklin Schonauer, R. D. 4.

Board 3 selectees and volunteers are:

Lawrence Dale Valentine, Bellville, R. D. 2; John William Fisher, Ravenna, O.; Paul Joseph Henry, Shelby; John Phillip Kauf, Bellville, R. D. 2; Clarence Virgil Baker, Lexington, R. D. 2; Charles Edward Paine, Shelby; Richard Keith Dawson, Shiloh, R. D. 2; Rubert Trenton Hill, Bellville, R. D. 2; Donald Wesley Ralston, Shelby, and Robert Harold Poffenbaugh, Shelby.

Nine men will leave tomorrow to replace selectees who were turned down previously at Fort Hayes because of physical defects. Replacements are:

Board 1—Edward E. Sturges, 248 Poplar street; Robert H. Shaw, 16½ North Diamond street; Edwin L. Laipply, 301 Bulkley avenue; William H. Wendell, Columbus.

Board 2—Michael George Hoffer, 599 South Diamond street; Harry Leroy Ammeter, 635 Lexington avenue; Howard A. Dowds, 116 West Second street; Gerald Frederick Shutt, Woodville road; John E. Harfman, R. D. 4.

Branding of livestock, traced to Egyptians of 4,000 years ago, was introduced in America by Spaniards.

'Lost' in Jungle

BLAME SELVES

DENVER—(U.P.)—Through questionnaires, state officials have learned that most of the pedestrians struck by cars on Denver streets during the last six months of 1940 never sensed danger was near.

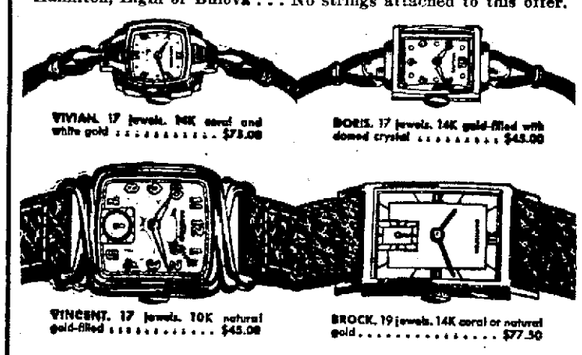

Some of them blamed the motorist but a majority attributed their injuries to their own carelessness. Several even suggested that traffic regulations should be more strict for the pedestrian and that "jay-walkers" be fined double.

GET HIGH MARKS

GOLDEN, Colo.—(U.P.)—Scholastic eligibility is one thing that never bothers Coach John Mason of the Colorado School of Mines. He has not lost a football player for that reason for years. Last year his 40-man squad had a 81 percentage grade average. Mines has one of the highest ratings of any technical college in the United States.

CRAWFORD COON HUNTERS WILL CONDUCT CHASE

Association Will Hold Field Trials at Fairgrounds Sunday.

GALION—The Crawford County Coon Hunters association will hold its first coon dog field trial for 1941, Sunday at the Crawford county fairgrounds, Bucyrus, it was announced today by R. W. Stall of Galion, president of the association.

P. L. Helfrich, secretary, Galion, said that some of the fastest dogs in Ohio and surrounding states will compete for a guaranteed purse and heat money.

The dogs will run in heats of 10 and will be transported to the starting point where they will be released under the guidance of a starting judge. The first tree and line dogs in each heat picked by the judges will be entered in the finals and a share of the guaranteed purse. The scent tree with a large coon well up in the branches will be in full view of the spectators.

The coon chase is now the most popular of all field trials, Mr. Stahl stated, and it is attracting an increasingly large crowd. It is intended by the sponsors to develop a more intelligent and faster coon dog, and is widely used for raising funds for restocking purposes. In 1940 the Crawford County Coon Hunters association released 128 coon and 50 pheasants throughout the county and their plans call for a larger number this year.

In connection with the event Sunday, lunch will be served on the grounds by Bob Helfrich and his committee, while Charlie Sargel will serve coffee.

THEATERS

Candid Theme.

Two of the screen's most glamorous stars, Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullavan, are teamed in "Back Street," picturization of Fannie Hurst's novel opening Saturday at the Ohio. The candid theme roused a storm of comment at the time the book was published and the story has continued to be widely read. Margaret Sullavan plays the role of a girl who is content to live on the back street of a successful man's life, helping him to success while she remained in the shadows. Robert Stevenson, young English director, directed the picture which has Frank McHugh, Tim Holt and Nell O'Day in the cast.

Father and Sons.

Memorable story of an American family, its loves, feuds and heartbreaks, is unfolded in the picture, "Adam Had Four Sons," opening Saturday at the Madison. Warner Baxter plays an understanding father who watches the development of his four sons to manhood and subsequent victory and tragedy as various women shape their lives. In the role of a modern Scarlett O'Hara, Susan Hayward casts her spell upon the family in spite of the attempts of Helen Westley and Ingrid Bergman to thwart her ambitions. "Blondie Goes Latin," the co-attraction, has Penny Singleton, Arthur Lake and Tito Guizar.

FREE THEATER TICKETS AT N-J FOR 25 PERSONS OLDER THAN 60

There are tickets for the Ohio theater waiting at The Mansfield News-Journal office for the first 25 people over 60 years of age who call to claim them.

Good at the performance of "Back Street," featuring Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullavan, opening at the Ohio Saturday, the tickets are presented through the courtesy of Ohio Manager William Harwell to substantiate his claim that people are never too old to enjoy the movies.

"People are just as interested in the movies at 60 as they are at 6," according to Harwell.

"No need to bring the family Bible when calling for the tickets. They will be at The News-Journal office waiting for the first 25 men and women over the 60 mark.

Tickets will be available at The News-Journal business office from this afternoon on until the supply is exhausted. One ticket will be available for each one eligible.

Jewels Shown.

Representing the exhibits of a London diamond-importing and cutting establishment gems valued at thousands of dollars were used in the filming of "South of Suez," currently showing at the Ritz with George Brent in the leading role. Brent plays a diamond mine foreman forced to fight off the treachery of the owner, George Tobias, whose daughter, Brenda Marshall, is in love with Brent. Eric Blore, Lee Patrick and James Stephenson are in the cast. George "Gabby" Hayes, bewhiskered veteran of cowboy dramas appears with Roy Rogers in "The Border Legion," second picture.

Dancing Girl.

Not so many years ago Steffi Duna was astonishing audiences in her native Budapest with her skill in dancing. Her progress in the film world has been rapid and in "Girl From Havana," showing at the Park she enacts a South American spitfire whose love is turned to hate. Dennis O'Keefe, Victor Jory ad Gordon Jones are American oil drillers who fight their way out of one battle into another while Claire Carleton acts as the objects of their affections. "Colorado", showing as the second attraction has several familiar western players including Roy Rogers and George "Gabby" Hayes.

Mistakes Action.

Rehearsals for an amateur production which Joe Penner mistakes for a murder furnish one of the engaging moments in "Millionaire Playboy," showing at the Majestic. Victim of hiccoughs, Joe in the role of the timid son of a millionaire, seeks escape in a resort populafed only by the fair sex. Since kissing has sent Joe into hiccoughs since babyhood his stay at the resort only makes matters worse. Linda Hayes, Fritz Feld, Russ Brown, Granville Bates and an array of beautiful girls are in the cast. "Lucky Devils," with Richard Arlen and Andy Devine is Feature No. 2.

Plans Amendment to Bigger Patrol Bill

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway Chatter.

(Number Two—Times Square News-Seller.)

JOHN JOSEPH FOWLER is a tale from Times Square. He knows, better than anyone on Broadway, that New York is a town of out-of-towners who are as devoted to their past in Peoria as they are interested in their future here. He knows a visiting fireman the way you know a sparrow, or a maple tree, or a cloud—on sight.

Kilgallen.

If you are an old-timer on Broadway, you must know John pretty well, for he has been standing in Times Square selling his papers since 1917; if you are a newcomer on Broadway, you must know him even better, because then you are a customer of his out-of-town newsstand.

John Joseph Fowler gets a good picture of America as it trots up to his stand day after day for its typographical letter from home.

He has stood in Times Square almost every day for 24 years, but he has never seen George M. Cohan, Mayor LaGuardia or Jimmy Walker.

He has, however, seen plenty else—chorines carrying little black makeup boxes, movie stars riding by in limousines, has-beens, champions, and now and then a kid actor who rose from a daily malted milk at Walgreen's to his name in lights over the movie marquees of the street.

Fowler sells papers from every state in the union, and from Canada—360 mastheads in all. In 1929, he sold 550 publications. He is, of course, a New Yorker, born at Eleventh avenue and 57th street, one of eight children. He has met some of the world's most traveled people, but he has never been west of Hoboken, where he once lived.

Nineteen hundred and forty was the stand's biggest year. That was on account of the World's fair. Billy Rose was his biggest customer. That was on account of the fair, too. Rose bought one of every paper to get a slant for his Aquacade publicity.

Fowler says Rudy Vallee was personally responsible for more sales than anyone else in public life. The girls—known in the Great Vallee Era as "daffydills"—used to follow Rudy around by buying the papers of the towns where he appeared. His father was a good customer, too. Came over to Fowler the first time he visited the stand and said, "I'm Rudy Vallee's father." Very proudly.

John Joseph is a middle-aged honest-looking, weathered, rather sandy man with an artificial left foot and a wry sense of humor. After nearly a quarter of a century of watching the world go by, he is pretty expert at sizing up people and situations, but he is inclined to look at things with a sentimental eye.

He hasn't seen many shows ("I saw 'Tobacco Road' when it was only a path," he grins) but he knows a lot about show folk and show business. He reads all the reviews as they arrive, and when someone asks for the paper, he off-handedly tells him, "Page 18." Fowler can spot a review-seeker by the expression on his face.

John's tips are few and far between, but often Christmas turns out to be pretty profitable. He got his biggest tip—$20—because he had the nerve to save up $45 worth of papers for a Florida man. . . .

Not long ago a customer came by and asked Fowler to save a certain Davenport paper because it contained the account of the death of a friend.

But he never came back for the paper. He was Hal Skelly, one of Broadway's greats, and by the time the paper was folded in its niche in the newsstand, he, too, was dead.

Fowler's stand is used for an information booth more consistently than the neighboring one of the police department's. . . . For many years he has been lending money to total strangers, and he claims he has come out ahead, not behind.

Because he is a joker, Fowler loves to have someone buy a Shamokin, Pa., paper. Then he will say, "You can't take that in the subway, you know." And the innocent stranger always asks why not.

"Haven't you seen the signs?" counters the impish Fowler. "No Shamokin in the subway!"

ESTIMATES 325 CASES TO STAY ON RELIEF HERE

Survey Shows Mansfield One of at Least 5 Ohio Cities With Permanent Loads.

Mansfield is among at least five Ohio cities reporting "irreducible minima" for relief loads today, J. V. Finney, relief director for Mansfield and Richland county, announced that his office's permanent rock bottom for relief would be approximately 325 cases.

Finney said that only 378 persons of the 1,563 persons included in the area's 492 relief cases are employable if offered jobs. This represents only 24 per cent of those on relief and leaves the remaining 76 per cent as a permanent load.

In Mansfield alone, only 250 persons or 28 per cent of the 891 on relief are employable, according to Finney, and in the county 128 or only 19 per cent of the 672 persons could take jobs.

Several other cities took rapid strides toward determining relief status today as expanding defense industries absorbed fresh hundreds of workers from WPA projects and direct relief rolls.

Permanent rock bottoms were also noted at Ironton, with 616 persons on relief; Marion with 690, Alliance with 492 and Lancaster with 112. Similar situations existed in Marion and Fairfield counties.

At the same time Omar Caswell, welfare director of Hamilton county (including Cincinnati), reported 25,000 on relief rolls with a prediction that a permanent base of 15,550 would be reached by July 1 provided weather permitted full expansion of outdoor work.

At Cleveland, on the other hand, Relief Director Frank G. Jones said permanent load estimates would be "anybodys guess," although he predicted that the 45,171 reliefers listed March 1 might eventually drop to 27,000.

Also far from the minimum was Lucas county, where Relief Director Clarence Benedict predicted that the present 14,397 load would be slashed eventually to less than 4,000. Availability of relief recipients for active work differed widely.

Mahoning county Director I. L. Feuer reported an almost complete absence of employable men in his 4,200 relief clients, although between 500 and 600 women on the rolls were able and anxious for jobs.

Massillon listed 236 on relief with 213 employable; Cleveland classified 13,399 thus, although Jones added that "about a third would have difficulty in becoming entirely self-supporting."

DAILY SCRAPBOOK—

By R. J. Scott

The Good Humor man who rings bells outside your window every summer night may be in bad humor this season. Mayor William J. Locke said today that he had heard a petition was being circulated to ban "overnight" ice cream stands that it is to be submitted to council Tuesday night.

County commissioners weren't quite sure today whether the joke was on them or the folks who will still have to climb a winding stairway to reach the aid for dependant children headquarters in the courthouse. The new courthouse elevator, due to go into operation soon, has no outlet to the office on the top floor, and there apparently is no way of providing one. Commissioners think the only solution is in moving the welfare headquarters to another location where the stairway will be eliminated. The office is at the extreme east end of the building, isolated from all the others.

Mrs. Anna Long Onstott, a former Mansfielder visiting in town, is an enthusiastic Johnny Appleseed fan. She is visiting the scenes of Appleseed's journeys in this part of Ohio, to gather information concerning his activities. Her collection of information has reached the place where she is looking forward to the completion o fa book on Johnny Appleseed's life by Sept. 26th, the 167th anniversary of his birth in Massachusetts. The book will be dedicated to the early pioneers of this vicinity and the Boy Scouts of the Johnny Appleseed area.

SPONSOR WILL SEEK TO LIMIT OVER POWERS

Would Prohibit Enlarged State Police From Intervening In Labor Strikes.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Sen. George G. Hunter, (R., Lawrence,) said today he planned to amend his bill for an increase in the size and powers of the highway patrol by including a provision to prohibit patrolmen from intervening in strikes and labor disputes."

Another hearing on the bill will be held early next week.

Hunter said the extended authority of patrolmen would be limited to general police powers only on state highways and adjoining lands. The patrol would be doubled in personnel.

The amendments, he said, were designed to meet objections to the bill voiced by labor representatives.

Labor groups have thrown their support to establishment of a state guard rather than granting any additional men or power to the patrol which they said would be "the beginning of a state constabulary."

The house military affairs committee may recommend passage next week of Hunter's bill to set up a state guard of 1,000 to 4,800 men to serve until the return of the National Guard from federal servise. The bill has already been passed by the senate.

Legislators next week were expected to begin pressing committee action on their "pet" bills as leaders prepared for adjournment in six more weeks.

After passage of the $352,000,000 general appropriations bill is completed, the session is expected to come to an abrupt end.

Chairman Paul E. Ballard, (R., Jackson) of the house finance committee, said the appropriations bill may be ready for house action by the end of next week.

The house conservation committee will hold a second hearing Wednesday night on the highly-controversial bill to permit the shooting of quail in southern Ohio beginning in 1943.

Democratic house members are expected to attempt reductions in appropriations included in the general appropriations bill when it reaches the floor for a vote.

A bill permitting newspapermen to keep secret their "news sources" in trials and investigations will be considered by the house.

Senator Grant P. Ward, (R., Franklin), said he would seek passage on Tuesday of a bill providing more rigid regulations of horse racing in the state. Yesterday he obtained postponement of action on the measure and admitted later that he had not secured sufficient support.

SENATORS BACK BIG FARM BILL

Measure Calls For Billion and Half With Bulk To Be Used For Benefit Payments.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Demanding that farmers share with industry and labor in the prosperity promised by defense funds, a powerful group of senators united today behind the largest annual agricultural appropriation in history.

They asked a senate, largely accustomed to voting billions for defense, to pass an annual farm bill of more than $1,340,000,000 cash, plus $275,000,000 in loans.

The record-breaking farm fund was approved unanimously late yesterday by a senate appropriations subcommittee and Senator Russell (D.,-Ga.) predicted that the full appropriation committee would give speedy approval today, sending it on to the senate for action Monday.

Senator Russell (D., Ga.) who presided at the subcommittee hearings, summarized the opinions of the measure's supporters when he said that the "defense program has not brought any help to the farm areas. This bill is only common justice for the farmers. Their income is declining while that of others is climbing."

Bulk of the big bill—$950,000,000—would go to farmers in the form of benefit payments for complying with the administration's agricultural programs.

PLAN VOTE ON JAMESON BILL FOR STATE DEFENSE COUNCIL

Creation of a state council with extensive powers to function in behalf of national defense would be authorized by legislation likely to be voted on in the Ohio senate in Columbus next week.

The bill was introduced by Senator Joseph Jameson of Lorain county, senator from the district which includes Richland county.

The measure has been recommended for passage by the military affairs committee and is reported reliably to have the administration's endorsement.

Establishment of local and district defense councils also is provided for in the bill.

The state council would have authority to direct investigations and recommend to the governor any action necessary in connection with the following activities:

Industrial production, materials and facilities; agriculture, food supply, land use, transportation, labor supply, training and relations; professions, trades and skills; consumers, housing, health, welfare, education, recreation, finance, civil liberties and civil defense.

The council would be composed of the state directors of agriculture, commerce, health, highways and industrial relations, the adjutant general, unemployment compensation administrator and six persons appointed by the governor, all of whom would serve without pay.

The bill gives the state council permission to create district councils, while the governing bodies of the local governments could set up their own councils.

It is an emergency measure which would become effective as soon as passed by the legislature and signed by the governor.

ILLNESS FATAL

George Beilstein, 75, Dies; Funeral Saturday.

A resident of Mansfield for the past 50 years, George Beilstein, 75, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Harbeson, 100 East First street, following a short illness.

Mr. Beilstein was born in Germany, Oct. 14, 1865. In Mansfield he was a member of the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, and the Richland lodge, No. 161, I. O. O. F.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Harbeson and Mrs. Jacob Bauer; three grandchildren, all of Mansfield; two brothers, Fred Toerge, of Wilkensburg, Pa., and William Toerge, of Glendale, Cal.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Saturday at 3:30 p. m. Rev. Paul Saleste will officiate. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

The family requests that flowers be omitted.

G. W. ROGERS DIES

Chesterville Man, 82, Succumbs; Funeral Tomorrow.

FREDERICKTOWN — George W. Rogers, 82, died Thursday at his home in Chesterville after a brief illness.

Surviving are his widow, Retha; three sons, Hoy G., Martsville, N. Y.; Dewey, Marengo, and Hugh, Chesterville; two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Haycock, Cardington, and Mrs. John Zulaum, Cleveland.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the home. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Anna Lee is the type, all right.

Anna Lee is the heroine of a now classic Hollywood tale. I didn't believe it—it was too pat—but Miss Lee says its true, and when Miss Lee says a thing is true you're an old fuddy-duddy if you don't believe it, so I do now.

ROBBIN COONS

Lewis Milestone had seen Anna Lee in some of her English-made pictures and he had to have Anna Lee for "My Life with Caroline." So he cabled RKO's London office and they cabled back for him to see Robert Stevenson, a fellow-director at RKO in Hollywood. Milestone walked into Stevenson's office and Stevenson presented him to his wife, who chanced to be sitting there, and then Milestone asked where he could locate Anna Lee.

Anna Lee, of course, is Mrs. Stevenson, and doubtless you've heard the story already but it bears repeating.

But maybe you haven't heard how thoroughly the type Miss Lee is—slim, blonde, blue-eyed and charming in an easy, effortless way.

To understand, you have to know a little about the script and about the sets. "My Life with Caroline" is a gay, modern comedy about a wealthy publisher (Ronald Colman) who solves the problem of his wife's infatuation for another man in his own sophisticated style. The sets representing his Florida mansion, designed by the Russian artist Nicolai Remisoff, are deliberately gay and modern in keeping with the story tone—and seeing is only half believing.

The stairway, for instance. A beautiful spiral, unsupported from "ceiling" to floor, and each step carpeted in Chinese goatskin. For a pictorial smash you can't beat a fur-lined stairway. As it works out on the set it isn't very practical—it has to be trimed by a barber every afternoon for spots worn rough, and along about 4 p. m., under the hot lights, it begins to smell (as Miss Lee should know from long hours of stairway acting) "like an Australian sheep farm."

Miss Lee is no giddy Caroline. On the contrary she is noted as a devoted wife and mother. (Daughter Benetia Invicta is 3.)

DIES AT AGE 89

Mrs. Anna Hayne Had Lived In City For 21 Years.

A lingering illness ended this morning in the death of Mrs. Anna M. Hayne, 89, at her home, 37 Baldwin avenue.

A resident of Mansfield for the past 21 years, Mrs. Hayne was born at Barnesville, O., April 26, 1851. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

Survivors are two daughters, Jessie and Effie Hayne, both of Mansfield; two sons, Ernest, of Mt. Pleasant, O., and Ralph, of Chicago; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The body will remain at the home until Saturday evening. Funeral services will be held at the Adena Presbyterian church, Adena, Jefferson county, Sunday at 3:30 p. m. Rev. Stuart Warner will officiate. Burial will be in the Olive Branch cemetery at Harrisville, O.

FALLS, DIES

Mrs. C. L. Mauk, Succumbs; Rites Set For Monday.

Falling down the front porch steps at her home Wednesday, Mrs. Ruth Remaly Mauck, 43, wife of Clare L. Mauck, 455 West Third street, died last night at General hospital. Physicians said she may have suffered a stroke.

Mrs. Mauck was born at Vandergriff, Pa., Nov. 22, 1897. She was a resident of Mansfield for the past ten years, and was a member of the Central Methodist church.

Survivors are her husband, one daughter, Jean, at home; her father, James Remaly, one brother, Arthur, and a sister, Mrs. Julia Appelt, all living in Cleveland; and one sister, Mrs. Edna Steele, of Buffalo, N. Y.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. Rev. R. L. Foulke, pastor of the Central Methodist church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

STUDENTS PICK BOTH BLONDS

Decide May Queen Vote Tie By Electing Two of Them.

GALLIPOLIS —(U.P.)— Students at Little Rio Grande college agreed today that two blonds are better than one.

It took three days of voting to decide who would be the 1941 May queen. The first two election days ended in deadlocks between blonds Grace Bunce, 17, Addison sophomore, and Irene Lewis, 20, Oakhill junior.

Yesterday the student body voted to crown both blondes.

NEW PASTOR

Cleveland Priest Replaces Rev. Rooney at Ashland.

ASHLAND — Rev. Leonard Wheatley, of Cleveland, had been named pastor of St. Edward's Catholic church today while Prosecutor A. Ross Siverling made plans for a sanity hearing for Rev. William E. Rooney, charged with whipping a 16-year-old girl in the church basement.

Siverling announced that although serving of an indictment against the priest must await a decision by Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert, that a date for the sanity hearing would probably be set Tuesday or Wednesday.

Rev. Rooney was found "mentally ill" by probate court and is now an inmate at Massillon State hospital. Judge H. E. Culbertson of common pleas court instructed grand jurors to disregard the probate court action.

Rev. Wheatley comes from St. Jerome's parish in Cleveland where he served as assistant pastor.

Start Final Check On Compiling New Directory for City

Workers for the Burch Directory company of Akron are making a final check on last minute changes in the city's 1941 street directory and expect to complete their work within a week.

B. W. Bowman, director of the crew, said today that the new directories would be ready for distribution by May 1. He also announced that there would be a 10 per cent increase in the number of listings in the book.

In addition to the regular alphabetical list of residents and streets, the new street numbers and dial telephone numbers will be included. The directory is issued bi-annually.

RUTH COX BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. KAHLER

Wedding Solemnized Before Altar of the Westpark Congregational Church In Rocky River on Wednesday Evening.

MANSFIELD friends of Miss Ruth Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Cox, 505 Daisy street, who formerly resided here, are learning with this announcement of her marriage to William Kahler of Cleveland, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Kahler of Meadville, Pa. The ceremony was solemnized Wednesday at 7 o'clock in the evening before the altar of the Westpark Congregational church in Rocky River.

Rev. Wellington Leininger, formerly pastor of the Mayflower Congregational church here, read the service in the presence of the immediate families. Candles and greenery decorated the altar. Light from the candles was the only illumination in the church during the ceremony.

The bride wore a soldier blue suit with saddle accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Attending her was her sister, Mrs. Giles E. Hamilton of Mansfield, who wore an aqua suit with beige and brown accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served for the bridal party at the Westlake hotel in Rocky River. On the following day Mr. and Mrs. Kahler left for a motor trip through the South. Upon their return they will reside at 17426 Norton avenue, Lakewood.

Mrs. Kahler had been employed at the office of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company in Cleveland for the past two years. She was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, atended Cleveland college and Cleveland School of Art, and studied voice with Fred Wilson. Mr. Kahler, who was graduated from Brown university, Providence, R. I., is employed as illuminating engineer with Westinghouse.

He is president of the Cleveland Junior Association of Commerce and co-author of several books and many articles on various types of illumination.

BUFFET SUPPER HELD.

Miss Margaret McLean, Park avenue west road, entertained members of the Daughters of Scotland Thursday evening at her home. A buffet supper was served to 23 members and guests with table appointments in keeping with the Easter season. The remainder of the time was spent in knitting for the British War relief. On April 3 members will meet at the North Lake park pavilion for a business session. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. H. Southall, West Fifth street, April 10, for another evening of knitting.

Sorority Has Skating Party at Park Coliseum

Approximately 20 members of Chi Sigma sorority had a roller skating party at the Coliseum in North Lake park yesterday evening. Miss Grace Ladd was general chairman of the affair.

Miss Naomi Stutz, president, has announced that informal initiation will be conducted for four pledges next Tuesday evening in the pavilion at Prospect park at 8.15 o'clock. Miss Marguerite Speas, Miss Miriam Bean, Mrs. Robert Brook and Mrs. John Hall are the prospective initiates. Miss Marjorie Rhoads will be in charge.

On April 8, the sorority members will have their annual Pollyanna party. Mrs. Wilbur Upson will be in charge of the arrangements at that time. The place will be announced later.

Frank Bissman Gives Program

Ladies of the 37th Division, A. E. F., met yesterday evening for a regular session at the Memorial building. Following the transaction of routine business, Frank Bissman showed current war pictures. Refreshments were served during the social hour. Mrs Charles Payne was chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by Mrs. Harley Newkirk, Mrs. Leo Bookmyer and Mrs. Floyd Buzzard.

The next meeting of the Division will be held at the Memorial building on April 24. Mrs. Glenn Bierly will be chairman of the social committee at that time.

DRAPE CHARTER.

Thirty-five members of the Pocahontas lodge met at the Eagle hall Thursday evening for a routine business session and to drape a charter in memory of the late Mrs Catherine Henry. Mrs. Mabel Keller was in charge of the reports and other business. The next meeting will be held April 10 at the hall for a birthday party following the regular session.

Iowa Family Visits at J. W. Ness Home

Mrs. John Turner Creighton of Waterloo, Ia., is pictured above with her three children, Roger, David and Elaine, who with Mr Creighton have been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ness, 467 Parkview street, for the past several days. Mrs. Creighton was Gladys Ness before her marriage. They expect to return by motor to their home this week-end.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

MOST of the news today is about folks who are traveling here and there on early spring vacations. . . . Mrs. Russell Seymour and her daughter, Janet, entrained yesterday for Mississippi, where they will visit in Gulfport with Mrs. Robert Springer and Mrs. Dale Uhlich . . . Capt. Springer and Capt Uhlich, you know, are stationed at Camp Shelby this year.

Marianne

Some other folks who left for the South this week are Mrs G. C. Endly and Catherine Fry. . . . They've gone down to Key West, Fla., for a two-weeks' vacation. . . . And on their recent visit in New York City, Mrs. Almeda Sharp and Mrs. Alice G. Haire took a complete tour of the National Broadcasting company and Radio City. . . . They said that they particularly enjoyed the demonstration of sound effects in their backstage view of radio.

In a letter from Whittier, Cal., this week, L. B. Hamilton writes that he and his wife have been having a grand vacation in the Sunshine state, even though they have experienced some heavy "dews" during their sojourn. . . . They are on their way home now—along the southern route through Texas, Louisiana and along the Gulf coast—with plans to get back here in time for our real spring weather.

AND some other returning vacationers are Mr. and Mrs. John Mahon, who arrived in town this week following a two months' sojourn in Florida . . . They drove down and back, visiting in Miami Beach and St. Petersburg the majority of the time.

Their Mansfield friends will be pleased to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Honeberger and their daughter, Betty, are moving back to town after seven years' absence. . . . They've been living in New York state, and will take up residence here after April 1, as Mr. Honeberger will be employed in the city then. . . . Mrs. Honeberger, as you probably recall, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Haldeman.

CAPPING ceremonies were held last night at St. Luke's hospital in Cleveland for 59 student nurses, following their six-months' probation period, and there were two Mansfield girls among those capped—Mary Werner and Norma Harrison. . . . Mary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Werner, and her sister, Jeannette, attended, as did Norma's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison. . . . More than 800 guests were present for the reception which followed the ceremonies at the hospital.

* * *

AND IN CONCLUSION: By means of a system of merits when the cadets at Culver Military academy make exceptionally good grades, they are given week-end leaves from the school. . . . And as a result, Jack Schettler spent last week-end at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Schettler, while Richard will be a visitor at their home this week-end. . . . And speaking of college students, Jane McFadden recently was initiated into Delta Delta Delta sorority at DePauw university in Greencastle, Ind., where she is a freshman. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McFadden.

Dr. Dwight Weir Speaks to Child Conservation Club

Mrs William Joiner was welcomed as a new member of the Child Conservation club when the regular meeting was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. J. Mayer, 248 Abbeyfeale road. Assisting Mrs. Mayer was Mrs. Robert Arnold as associate hostess. Two guests, Mrs. L. J. Johnson and Mrs. Robert Haspeslagh, were in attendance.

Dr. Dwight Weir was the guest speaker for the program, using as his topic the informative subject, "Prevention and Care of Contagious Diseases In Children."

Following the talk refreshments were served buffet style from an attractively decorated table. A large Easter bunny centered the table and other appointments in keeping with the season were used. Mrs. Ray Paulson presided.

On April 10 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Carl Brock, 507 Cline avenue, at which time she will be assisted by Mrs. C. F. Proctor. The program will consist of a discussion on "Truthfulness and the Value of Imagination for Children," to be given by Mrs. John Harrison and Mrs. Russell Doehla.

Luncheon Served To Women's Aid Thursday

Easter decorations formed an attractive setting for the luncheon served to members of the Women's Aid of the Pennsylvania Railroad Thursday afternoon at the Staiger tea room, Glessner avenue. Places were laid for 22 at one long table. Mrs. Franklin Haupt and Mrs. Fred Alacca were hostesses for the occasion. A short business meeting was held in charge of Mrs. E. W. High. Later bingo was the diversion with score gifts being awarded to Mrs. A. T. Rogers and Mrs. C. I. Robinson.

On April 24 Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. J. F. Evans will be hostesses for a luncheon party at the Staiger team room.

Colony Club Plans April Guest Party At Leland Hotel

Mrs. James Young, formerly of Willard, was welcomed as a new member of the Colony club yesterday afternoon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Mrs. Frank A. Burger and Mrs. L. W. Dollahan were hostesses for the meeting, which was attended by 28 members.

The business session was in charge of Mrs. F. R. Thaler, and bridge was the afternoon's diversion. Refreshments were served at the small tables after the games.

On April 10, the members are planning to have a guest party at the hotel, with Mrs. Clifford Warner and Mrs. J. M. Slattery as hostesses. The motion picture, "Ohio's Good Earth," will be shown at that time. Plans also are going forward for a benefit bridge the club is sponsoring at the hotel on May 7. Mrs. Lyle Jones is general chairman and proceeds will be given to the Richland County Tuberculosis sanatorium.

Club Members Plan Sunday Hike And Steak Fry

Mrs. Rachel Shreffler announced that there will be a hike and steak fry on April 20 for members of the Business and Professional Women's club during a board meeting Wednesday evening. There were 17 members present for the dinner meeting, when routine reports were given and special announcements made.

Members will meet at the courthouse at 2:30 o'clock that afternoon to leave for the hike. A meeting of the Sixth District of the club will be held on March 30 at the Hotel Rogge in Zanesville, and the state convention has been scheduled for May 16, 17, and 18 in Cincinnati.

The club members make surgical dressings for the Red Cross every Monday and Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the Red Cross rooms. The next regular club meeting will be a dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel on April 9. The program will be announced later.

Club Plans to Send Gift to Sanatorium

Members of the Mary Martha Bible club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Myron Miller, 459½ Glessner avenue, for their regular meeting. Mrs. C. A. Cole was a guest present. During the meeting Mrs. L. F. Rondell conducted the devotions and Mrs. J. Leo Hartmann led the study hour.

Plans were made to send magazines to the Richland County Tuberculosis sanatorium as a special Easter project. On April 10 the group will meet at the home of Mrs. Martha Krupp, 270 Helen avenue.

SIX GUESTS ATTEND.

Eighteen members of the Buena Vista club and six guests were present for the regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Josephine Boals, Koogle road. Guests for the party were Mrs. Walter Brindle, Mrs. Charles Brindle and daughter, Jane, Mrs. Donald Hout and son, Tommy, and Miss Aleen Hout. Bingo was the diversion after which a luncheon was served by the hostess. On April 24 the group will meet for a covered-dish dinner at the Community House on Crider road.

JOAN OF ARC STUDY CLUB HAS DINNER

Covers Placed for 12 When Group Meets Thursday Evening at the Home of Mrs. G. C. Wehinger, Burger Avenue.

JOAN OF ARC STUDY CLUB members were entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. G. C. Wehinger, Burger avenue, with a turkey dinner at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a program and the diversion of bridge. All members were in attendance and covers were laid for 12 at one long table which was attractive with dainty spring flowers.

Miss Marie Kalbfleisch gave an interesting paper on "Delinquent Women and Girls" and Mrs. A. E. Weakland's topic was "Stamping Out Starvation." Roll call was answered by the current event subjects. Musical selections were part of the evening's program and were given by Betty Lou Wehinger at the piano and Robert Wehinger, who played the accordion.

Later the group enjoyed bridge with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Wehinger, Mrs. James Kuneman and Miss Kalbfleisch. Plans were made to hold the next meeting at the Kuneman home, Wolfe avenue, April 17.

Crescendo Club Members Appear In Opera Costumes

MADAME BUTTERFLY, Carmen, Daughter of the Regiment and Brumhilde were only a few of the guests attending the Crescendo club meeting Thursday evening at the home of Miss Sally Diehl, Barteley avenue. Right off the opera stage seemed to come these characters, for members of musical organizations attended the party in costume typical of opera personalities.

Gilbert Ireland designed many of the costumes and all were authentic in their reproduction. One member came dressed as a critic, another as a matinee idol, and Mrs Daisie Gibson, the club advisor, was no personage less than Carmen.

In keeping with the theme of the party Mrs. Paul Cropper, a guest speaker, gave a fascinating description of "Faust." First she gave the original story as written by Christopher Marlow, and then as Goethe wrote it, and finally as it was put into form for opera setting by Gounod.

In anticipation of seeing this opera soon in Cleveland these young members will be certain to understand and appreciate the true meaning of it for it was beautifully described scene by scene by Mrs. Cropper. In her entertaining manner she made the whole opera quite understandable to the young musical students.

The club has chartered a bus to attend the opera "Faust" and "Rigoletto," Saturday, April 19, in Cleveland. The bus will leave Mansfield at 10:30 a. m., and others desiring this means of transportation are to contact Miss Ruth Vrbanac.

Miss Patty Heiber entertained the group with two cello solos, accompanied by Richard Sparks. A brief business session was held in charge of Miss Vrbanac. Later refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Diehl, Miss Carol Kirkland and Miss Pearl Rub. The next meeting will be held at the home of David Talbot, 720 Woodhill road, April 17, at which time a recital program will be presented.

GROUP SEWS.

Mrs. Gray Adkins was hostess for a meeting of the Atlas club yesterday evening at her home on West Third street. The members sewed during the evening, and refreshments were served at a late hour. Mrs. Martin Bricker has invited the group to her home on Gibson avenue for the next meeting, April 10.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE CARRISON

Sequel to "Marriage Meddlers"

"THAT'S FINE," I told my husband mechanically, looking at my wrist watch. But what I saw there made me catch his arm frantically.

"Mary!" I said. "I must telephone her right away. She might be going out to dinner."

He responded instantly to the emergency, and acted upon it.

"Wait a minute!" he told the attendant who was preparing to give us gas. "Have you a telephone booth in your garage?"

"Sorry!" the man replied, "but we haven't."

"Where's the nearest one?"

"The big drug store, six blocks down on this street, has several. You can't miss it, for it's the only one on this side."

"Thanks a lot," Dicky said, stooping to the switch key. "We'll be back in a few minutes."

We did not speak again until we reached the drug store.

"How about it?" he asked. "Shall I take one telephone and get Dad while you talk to Mary?"

"Suppose Dad wants to talk to me about something, or Mary wants to speak to you?" I countered.

"You're one hundred per cent right, as always," he gibed. "So I'll just stand outside the booth and smoke, while you talk to my fair niece.

Then just as I put out my hand to take down the receiver, the impact of my own stupidity struck me full in the face, and I opened the door of the booth again and signaled to Dicky.

"We don't know a thing about trains," I told him, "and I'll have to tell Mary when I'm arriving, so she'll plan to see me."

"I'll get it right away," he said, starting for a second booth, but I stopped him.

"Suppose I get the station, and you write down the numbers for me, as I repeat them," I said, hoping he would not suspect why I was making the arrangement. Lillian once said with truth that "Dicky is brilliant, capable and a darling, but if you place any dependence on him in figuring out railroad schedules or automobile routes, you're just out of luck."

He cocked a quizzical eye at me.

"You do not t-r-rus-s-t me," he said melodramatically, but dutifully produced a folded piece of paper and a pencil, and stood in the door of the booth while I called the number.

When I had finished the call, we looked at each other with mutual satisfaction.

"Couldn't be better," Dicky said. "Train leaves here at eight o'clock, gets in New York at midnight. Mary'll just be having supper, probably. It will be the best time to see her, and you'll lose not one minute of time. And you'll have plenty of time to eat Helena's dinner before you go. The only thing I'm worried about is how you'll sleep on the train."

"The same way I sleep in a car seat," I told him, "only the chairs in the parlor coach are more comfortable."

"I fancy they are, at that," Dicky said. "But I'll be glad when you can get a good night's straight sleep again in a regular bed. Last night in a motor car, tonight in a railroad parlor car—but look here—what are you going to do when you get through talking to Mary?"

"Go over to Lillian's unless something develops from Mary's inspection of Marion's letter that sends me somewhere else."

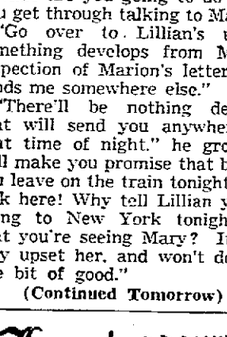

"There'll be nothing develop that will send you anywhere at that time of night," he growled. "I'll make you promise that before you leave on the train tonight. But look here! Why tell Lillian you're going to New York tonight, or that you're seeing Mary? It will only upset her, and won't do her one bit of good."

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, March 29.

A DAY of contradictory and confusing conditions, with much of major importance moving under high pressure and with objectives of major significance. Nevertheless if such enterprise and initiative be carried to excess there may be a blowout or some form of defeat.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively and productive year with events moving swiftly, energetically and under high tension. But carried to excess, initiative and enterprise may swing into defeatist channels, especially through reckless, impulsive and turbulent conduct.

A child born on this day should have practical talents, with much versatility and constructive or inventive abiilty. But its impetuous, quarrelsome, over-zealous or indulgent methods may prove its undoing.

PARENTS OF SON

GALION—Friends here have received the announcement of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. John Earhart of Chatfield, former Galion residents. The baby was born Wednesday, and has been named John Henry.

BIDDING GUIDES PLAY

YOU WILL play for your contract one way if the opponents have done no bidding at all. If they have done a small amount of bidding, you may alter the normal plan slightly. But if one of them has shown extreme length in some suit or suits, thereby betokening extreme shortness in others, you may adopt a method of play which is almost the reverse of the otherwise normal.

Bidding about like that occurred at still another table of the duplicate game where these cards were dealt. Other tables produced contracts, of 4-Hearts by West, who made the grade in each case by about similar methods, but there was a wide divergence in play of the two contracts of 5-Spades by South.

In each case West led the diamond A, ruffed by the spade 2. Also in each case South then led to the club K. Then one declarer went awry. He led the spade Q and sent it through to the singleton K. West returned his diamond 6 to the K, South discarding a heart. Having impoverished the dummy of entries, this South later lost tricks to the spade J and the club Q, so was down two.

The other 5-Spades declarer, after going to dummy with the club 9 to the K on the second trick, led the club 8 and played the 4 on it, West ruffing with his singleton spade K. He returned the diamond 6, the K being ruffed with the spade 5. The heart 3 then was ruffed by the spade 6 and the club 10 finessed. The club A then dropped the Q, and South led his last club, the J, discarding a diamond from North. East could get nothing now except one trick, even ruffing this, so the contract was made.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

With South playing the hand at 6-No Trumps, why should East cover the lead of the diamond J with his K midway during the play?

FIESTA COLORS USED.

Miss Virginia Fox, 335 West Fifth street, entertained members of the Cardettes Bridge club Thursday evening at her home. Score prizes for the diversion were won by Mrs. Kenneth Lang and Miss Mary Shafer. When refreshments were served fiesta colors were used as decorations. The hostess welcomed two guests, Mrs. Carl Weiland and Miss Elaine Fox. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Mary Jane Bellore, Wayne street, the time to be announced later.

Birthday Anniversary Observed With Party

Ten schoolmates of Helen Comisford, 61 Cameron street, were invited to her home Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 in honor of her 12th birthday anniversary. The time was spent socially in games and contests and later a lovely luncheon was served at one long table which was decorated with a birthday cake and a bouquet of pastel sweet peas.

The honorce is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Comisford. She received many gifts from her little friends and a bouquet from her father.

"Like every Bride I wanted a Lovelier Skin— and Camay helped me to have one"

—says Mrs. James L. Macwithey

Camay's greater mildness is an important help to every woman — even to many women with dry and delicate skin.

MRS. MACWITHEY is lovely to look at, and she gains in loveliness because her skin is lovely, too. Her blonde hair and her bright brown eyes set off a skin of creamy perfection.

Mrs. Macwithey cleanses her skin with Camay. She is keen about its mildness—about its gentle creamy lather. "Camay is so mild," she says, "it is just wonderful for delicate skins like mine." Many lovely women feel that way about Camay, especially if they have a tendency toward a delicate or dry skin.

For now a great new improvement makes Camay milder than six of the other leading large-selling beauty soaps, as tests made in the great Procter & Gamble laboratories prove. And skin specialists we asked say that regular cleansing with a fine, mild toilet soap will help your skin to look lovelier.

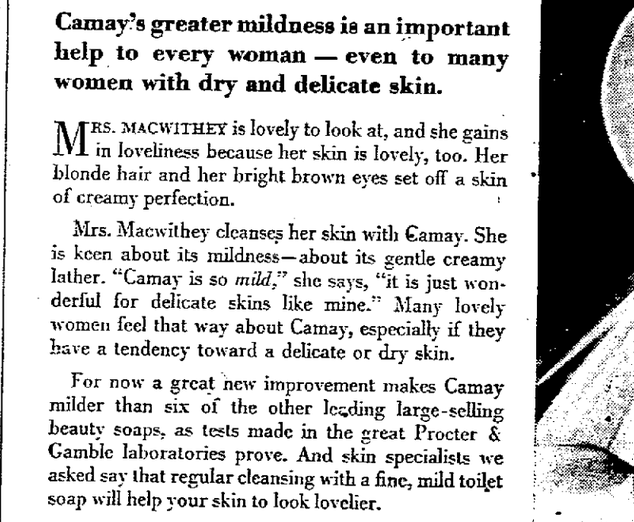

Camay now comes in two sizes

Try the new BATH SIZE Camay. It will make a hit with every member of your family. It's the same new improved Camay in a larger, more economical size.

Bath Size Camay is more than half again as large as the regular complexion cake . . . gives you more than half again as much of this fragrant, free-lathering soap. Yet it sells at a popular low price, at a saving to you. Get a few cakes from your dealer today.

Photographs by David Seiras

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Macwithey were married at Christ Episcopal Church in the fashionable town of East Orange. Mrs. Macwithey's wedding gown of blush pink satin is crowned by a Mary of Scotland cap. Mrs. Macwithey is another Camay bride—and about it she says: "I adore its mildness. Camay is so mild. It is just wonderful for delicate skins like mine. I really feel that Camay helps my skin to look lovelier."

FOR EXTRA ECONOMY!

NEW BATH SIZE CAMAY

Camay now comes in two sizes! The whole family will like the extra luxury of this new bath size Camay! It's so handy to hold...gives you such wonderful lather...and saves you money, too!
